21ST YEAR. NO. 5. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1904. TWO CENTS.

CHILD FELL INTO THE FIRE AND WAS FATALLY BURNED

Four Year Old Son of Wellsville Italian Couple Died After Hours of Awful Agony.

HURT WHILE ITS MOTHER WAS ABSENT

One of the most distressing accidents of the new year in Wellsville was that of the fatal burning of a child at a home on Fifteenth street at 5 o'clock last evening.

Lorenzo Pangoro, the father of the victim, resides on Twelfth street in the Italian colony located there. Mrs. Pangoro went out to a neighboring butcher shop, leaving her four-year-old boy, Castino, at the home. When the mother returned she found the child lying in the grate, enveloped in flames, and the clothes almost entirely burned off of the prostrate form.

She grasped the boy, already unconscious from his horrible burns and summoned help. A neighbor ran for Dr. McConnell, who soon appeared and did all in his power to alleviate the child's sufferings.

Nearly one-third of the lad's entire body was burned by the cruel flames, his back, sides, breast and lower limbs being in some instances burned to a crisp.

The little one was swathed in bandages, and throughout the entire night the sorrow-stricken parents watched over the unconscious form.

It is thought the boy had been endeavoring to reach something on the mantle above the grate, when he fell into the fire and was unable to save himself from the flames.

A visit to the home this morning by Dr. McConnell resulted in the conclusion that the child's burns were fatal and its death only a question of a few hours. The little fellow died about 10 o'clock. Previously he was vomiting terribly, which is a sure indication, says Dr. McConnell, that the end was near.

The accident is a most distressing one, and the first of the kind to be fatal in results for some years in Wellsville.

MATTER IS REPORTED TO THE SCHOOL BOARD

Controversy Over Religious Exercises in East Palestine Schools Is Not Yet Dropped.

Lisbon, January 7.—(Special.)—Although the trouble with Catholic pupils regarding the religious exercises in the East Palestine schools may not have been as serious as at first reported, it is not yet settled. The matter was formally reported to the board of education by Father Barth, the priest at East Palestine, at a regular meeting last evening, but no action was taken by the board. This was the first time the trouble was formally brought to the attention of the board.

When Father Barth retained legal counsel in Lisbon a few weeks ago the impression got abroad that there was a concerted movement among Catholic pupils to defy a general order that all should assume a reverent attitude during the devotional exercises, attending the opening of school each morning. It is now said that there was no formal order concerning religious exercises and that opposition to such exercises as are held is confined to a few individuals.

An Estimate Prepared.

The board of public seafety held a special meeting last evening and prepared an estimate of the amount of money which will be required to run the police and fire departments of the city until July next. This estimate, together with those prepared by the other boards and departments, will likely be acted upon by council at its regular meeting.

HIS TROUBLES ARE NOT YET ENDED

Herman Feustel's Wife Persists in Allowing Him to Live Alone.

The troubles of Herman Feustel are not over. His wife still persists in allowing him to live alone. It will be remembered that she deserted him months ago, taking two of his children with her and that he made report after report of it at the city hall. He temporarily ceased in telling his troubles owing to the promise of his wife to return to him, but he has now concluded that she does not intend to ever return and is again looking for her.

When Mrs. Feustel first left East Liverpool she went to Butler, Pa., where she remained for quite a while. After being located by her husband she consented to return if he would send her sufficient money. Mr. Feustel did so, sending enough to pay the fare of his two children also. Since that time the children have come home, but the wife remains out of the city and is now thought to be in Allegheny. Mr. Feustel received word the other day that she was living in Allegheny with a former East Liverpool man and went to residence thought to be her home, but was unable to locate her. He, however, is of the opinion that she is with the East Liverpool man and that she was hidden from him the day he was in Allegheny.

A Pittsburg paper lately stated that this man attempted to commit suicide as the result of trouble with a woman and it is thought Mrs. Feustel was the woman referred to.

The following officers, who were elected at the meeting, were installed before an adjournment was taken: W. H. Hatton, president; Sam College, vice president; W. T. GOES TO ARREST JOE BEADNELL Officer Sent to Salineville After a Husband Accused of Neglect.

HIS WIFE'S PITIFUL STORY

Officer Hugh McDermott will leave this afternoon for Salineville to arrest Joe Beadnell, who has been charged with abandoning his three minor children. The charge was preferred against him by his wife, who is now living in a shanty boat below the foot of Market street. If located Beadnell will be brought to this city and will be compelled to answer to Mayor Weaver.

Mrs. Beadnell seems to be a much wronged woman. She is industrious and loves her children dearly. When her husband left her and the children nearly six months ago she decided to work her very fingers off before complaining to the authorities or asking help of any of her relatives and until a few days ago she carried out her determination. She obtained employment at the Sevres china works and the money she received, together with $3 per month from Salineville, where she has some property, had been sufficient to keep her and the little ones until the severe weather set in. Finding that the children were bound to suffer if aid was not received, she at last decided to appear before the mayor and compel her husband to help provide the necessaries of life.

In her affidavit, Mrs. Beadnell alleges that her husband left her on or about July 1 and that since that time he has failed to provide in any manner for the family. She says her husband has steady work in a coal mine at Salineville and is well able to assist in the maintenance of the children. She does not know exactly why her husband deserted her, but thinks it is because he has become attached to other women. She says that he once accused her of intimacy with other men, but the accusations are unjust. "God knows I am innocent of any such charges," said the woman.

The mayor thinks the story of the woman to be true in every dettail, and will do all within his power to help her in her extreme sorrow. He has learned that the children have scarcely had enough to eat of late and this fact has appealed to him greatly.

MOST IMPORTANT WORK DEMANDED

A Stark County Representative Says a School Code Is a Pressing Need.

RADICAL CHANGES WANTED

A State Board of Education Recommended as the Best Means of Securing Uniformity of System. County Superintendency Favored.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 7.—Representative J. A. Welker, of Stark county, is of the opinion that the most important work of the seventy-sixth general assembly will be the enactment of a school code. He has given this subject careful and thorough consideration and has decided views as to the form legislation along this line should take. The school code should be of uniform operation, and there should be a state board of education, appointed by the governor to serve without compensation, to aid in securing a system of this kind. School boards should consist of five members, elected at large at the November election. Teachers are employed during the summer and members elected in the spring have no opportunity of ascertaining from personal observation whether they are competent. In giving his views Mr. Welker said:

"The school code will be the most important piece of legislation brought to the attention of the seventy-sixth general assembly. There are those who advocate wiping out all of our statutes relating to school government and control and enacting new legislation from beginning to end. This, in my opinion, is uncalled for. There is much Ohio school law that is of the very best. We should weed out the unconstitutional and impracticable and build upon what we have. Our aim in adopting a school code should be a system of uniform operation over the state. To this I favor a state board of education, to be appointed by the governor, and to serve without compensation.

"The state board of education will aid in securing uniformity of system, aid in placing of state funds for educational purposes, and lend support to the development of a normal school system. I am a firm believer in normal schools rightly conducted. Perhaps the matter of first importance in formulating a school code is the manner of representation on boards of education.

"City boards should consist of an odd number, preferably five, elected at large, for a term of five years. There is no principle touching the conduct of educational affairs upon which educators are more nearly united than upon the manner of electing boards of educations. You will remember some days ago the different educational interests met in convention in Columbus, and two committees representing the different interests, made a number of recommendations to the legislature on the proposed school code.

"Touching the matter of representation on city boards of education these committees reported a so-called compromise recommending 'local option' in manner of representation on boards of education. I have no sympathy with the compromise endorsing 'local option' in the matter of representation on boards of education. This is a matter of too vital importance to educational progress to justify representatives of these interests, with a majority of perhaps 20 to 1, proffering a compromise almost before it is asked, surrendering to the minority all that they seek.

"Uniformity of system is of the utmost importance to educational progress. One member of city boards of education should be elected at each general election held in November, and assume the duties of his office on the first day of January. Election in the fall will insure a much fuller expression of choice on the part of the public. And by assuming the duties of the office in January a member will become familiar with the duties of his office and especially with the work of teachers before time of election of teachers for the following year.

"Superintendents of schools should be elected for at least two years, or for an indefinite time, subject, however, to removal at any time.

"I am not in favor of delegating to superintendents power to employ and dismiss teachers. Though the superintendent should be employed at a time early enough to lend advice in employment of teachers. We should have a state superintendent of schools, who should be a member of the state board of education. He should be elected or appointed for not less than three years and he should have a salary of not less than $3,500. It is not right that we pay in many of our counties salaries of $10,000 or $12,000 and pay our state school commissioner and other state officers $2,000 or less. The township should be the unit of organization, with a board of education of three members, elected for three or five years.

"We should have a county superintendent to be appointed, possibly by the state board of education. I do not favor one-man power carried to the expense that this power is carried under the Cleveland system. Teachers should be paid better salaries, but we must have better teachers to pay these salaries to. The Onio State university should be given every financial encouragement that will make it equal to the best."

LIGHT IS SHED ON THE FAILURE

Ill Success of Co-Operative Store Due to Some of Its Zealous Promoters.

TRADES COUNCIL TOPICS

Probably the last report of the affairs of the co-operative store that will ever be made public was submitted to the central labor union last night, and the details would be very interesting if given out. It has been held by the better posted members of organized labor that ever since the store was started that the plan upon which it was conducted was a good one; in fact, concerns without number had been conducted on the same line with a remarkable degree of success. The truth was brought out during the discussion of the question last night that the workers generally were themselves entirely to blame for the failure of the enterprise.

The trades council had loaned the co-operative store $200 some time ago, feeling that it was the father of the scheme and was bound, in a measure, to help the store out of a tight place. When the concern went to the wall and the list of creditors was made up, it was found that but 50 cents on the dollar could be paid to each. This was the proposition that came to the council last night, and in spite of a strenuous opposition to accepting it, the majority ruled that rather than cause any further agitation or possible litigation, to take favorable action on the compromise. A detailed report of the transactions of the store together with the method of procedure adopted by the trustee was submitted last night, and in disposing of the question it was decided to place the report on file in order that all of the members might know just how the affairs of the concern stood.

The report shows that several of the men who were mainly responsible for the starting of the store were more to blame than anyone else for its failure. It was found that these men had subscribed for stock at $10 per share, and in most cases had paid but one dollar on the subscription. Nor would the result have been as disastrous had they let it go at that, but instead they were found to have run a book account and still owe money to the store for goods sold and delivered. When the several points had been made clear to the delegates present, it was not difficult to conceive how the failure had come about, and the members made haste to accept whatever money it was possible to get hold of. If any of the stock subscriptions can be collected in case any of the bad bills are paid, the trades council will come in for its share of the proceeds. The $100 coming to the body is not payment in full, nor will it be accepted as such.

The attendance at the meeting last night was good, and there was no lack of interest among the delegates. Delegates from the barbers' union made a report on the strike situation, and a list of union shops was read. A list of those whose owners have not yet signed the scale was given out, and the request made that all unionists and their sympathizers refrain from patronizing these shops until the strike is settled.

A communication was received from the men in charge of the fight against the non-union Los Angeles Times, giving a list of all firms who still persist in patronizing the paper. The secretary was instructed to write to all of the advertisers and protest against the continuance of the patronage.

Several communications were received dealing with the union label question and the agitation in favor of the label on all classes of merchandise. Each of the letters were referred in turn to the label committee, which now consists of U. E. Price, Fred Hostetter and Thomas Woods. These men will take up the different subjects as they were presented, and it is the intention of the council to pay more attention to the union label question in the future.

REMEDYING THE DEFECTS IN RAILROAD ORDINANCE

Councilmanic Committee Still Shaping Up This Very Important Measure.

CALL FOR LIGHTS AT GRADE CROSSINGS

The ordinance committee of council is still at work on the railroad ordinance. The members are not certain as to whether they will be ready to submit a report to council at its next regular meeting or not, but they are of the opinion that unless something unforseen is brought to light they will turn the ordinance over to the body for its second reading. It is understood that the committee has unearthed a number of flaws and will report them with a recommendation that the ordinance be revised.

Among the defects ferreted out by former members of council one relates to the stationing of lights at certain street crossings. The ordinance as prepared by the railroad attorney it is argued by the erstwhile councilman reads substantially as follows: "Lights shall be placed at crossings, as legally required." The statement is made that there is no law at the present time requiring crossings to be lighted. The law, says the former councilman, has been repealed, and if the present council would pass the ordinance as it now reads the railroad company would never be compelled to light the crossings. The ex-councilman says that council should rescind the provision and substitute one saying that lights shall be stationed at certain crossings. This, if accepted by the railroad company, will mean that the lights will be obtained, as the company can be made to live up to any provision agreed to, providing it does not conflict with any provision of the state law.

The foregoing is the position taken by a former councilman. The city solicitor says, however, that the repealed law related only to arc lights, but it is thought the railroad company may use this fact as an excuse to escape lighting.

While there are a number of such defects that have been discovered by the committee they are in reality only trivial objections, and when they are remedied it is thought the ordinance will go through without trouble.

RUTH CLEVELAND IS DEAD OF DIPTHERIA

Eldest Child of Former President Cleveland Passed Away at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., January 7.—(Special.)—This city was cast into deep gloom today over the death of Ruth, the eldest daughter of former President Grover Cleveland and wife.

SIX BADLY HURT IN WORK TRAIN WRECK

Open Switch on B. & O. Near Athens Causes Another Railroad Horror.

Athens, O., January 7.—(Special.)—Six foreigners were so badly crushed that it is feared that all will die in the wreck of a B. & O. work train near this city this morning. The wreck was caused by an open switch, the train crashing through at a high rate of speed.

The injured men were brought to this city, where their injuries were cared for.

Retires from Business.

Lisbon, January 7.—(Special.)—David S. Gailey, the senior member of the firm of D. S. Gailey & Son, who have conducted a book store here for many years, has decided to retire from the business, which will be continued by his son, Frank R. Gailey, after January 15. Mr. Gailey retires on account of ill health.

CARELESSNESS IN PAYING OUT CASH

Treasurer and Auditor Accuse the Water Works Department of Irregularity.

Absolute carelessness, it is alleged by the city treasurer and city auditor, has been practiced by the water works department of the city in the paying out of money which was not authorized by an appropriation of council. Discovery of the irregularity has been made since the auditor and treasurer started to prepare their annual report. They have reported the matter to the city solicitor, and he will officially notify the water works department to desist from such actions in the future.

It was found by the treasurer and auditor that employes of the water works department have been receiving their pay for several months from the money that has been received through water rents and other revenues of that department. The law specifically demands that no money be paid out by any department. It must go through the hands of the treasurer and auditor and before they can make any such payments the acts must be authorized by council.

There is no principle touching the conduct of educational affairs upon which educators are more nearly united than upon the manner of electing boards of educations. You will remember some days ago the different educational interests met in convention in Columbus, and two committees representing the different interests, made a number of recommendations to the legislature on the proposed school code.

"Touching the matter of representation on city boards of education these committees reported a so-called compromise recommending 'local option' in manner of representation on boards of education. I have no sympathy with the compromise endorsing 'local option' in the matter of representation on boards of education. This is a matter of too vital importance to educational progress to justify representatives of these interests, with a majority of perhaps 20 to 1, proffering a compromise almost before it is asked, surrendering to the minority all that they seek.

"Uniformity of system is of the utmost importance to educational progress. One member of city boards of education should be elected at each general election held in November, and assume the duties of his office on the first day of January. Election in the fall will insure a much fuller expression of choice on the part of the public. And by assuming the duties of the office in January a member will become familiar with the duties of his office and especially with the work of teachers before time of election of teachers for the following year.

"Superintendents of schools should be elected for at least two years, or for an indefinite time, subject, however, to removal at any time.

"I am not in favor of delegating to superintendents power to employ and dismiss teachers. Though the superintendent should be employed at a time early enough to lend advice in employment of teachers. We should have a state superintendent of schools, who should be a member of the state board of education. He should be elected or appointed for not less than three years and he should have a salary of not less than $3,500. It is not right that we pay in many of our counties salaries of $10,000 or $12,000 and pay our state school commissioner and other state officers $2,000 or less. The township should be the unit of organization, with a board of education of three members, elected for three or five years.

"We should have a county superintendent to be appointed, possibly by the state board of education. I do not favor one-man power carried to the expense that this power is carried under the Cleveland system. Teachers should be paid better salaries, but we must have better teachers to pay these salaries to. The Ohio State university should be given every financial encouragement that will make it equal to the best."

LIGHT IS SHED ON THE FAILURE

Ill Success of Co-Operative Store Due to Some of Its Zealous Promoters.

TRADES COUNCIL TOPICS

Probably the last report of the affairs of the co-operative store that will ever be made public was submitted to the central labor union last night, and the details would be very interesting if given out. It has been held by the better posted members of organized labor that ever since the store was started that the plan upon which it was conducted was a good one; in fact, concerns without number had been conducted on the same line with a remarkable degree of success. The truth was brought out during the discussion of the question last night that the workers generally were themselves entirely to blame for the failure of the enterprise.

The trades council had loaned the co-operative store $200 some time ago, feeling that it was the father of the scheme and was bound, in a measure, to help the store out of a tight place. When the concern went to the wall and the list of creditors was made up, it was found that but 50 cents on the dollar could be paid to each. This was the proposition that came to the council last night, and in spite of a strenuous opposition to accepting it, the majority ruled that rather than cause any further agitation or possible litigation, to take favorable action on the compromise. A detailed report of the transactions of the store together with the method of procedure adopted by the trustee was submitted last night, and in disposing of the question it was decided to place the report on file in order that all of the members might know just how the affairs of the concern stood.

The report shows that several of the men who were mainly responsible for the starting of the store were more to blame than anyone else for its failure. It was found that these men had subscribed for stock at $10 per share, and in most cases had paid but one dollar on the subscription. Nor would the result have been as disastrous had they let it go at that, but instead they were found to have run a book account and still owe money to the store for goods sold and delivered. When the several points had been made clear to the delegates present, it was not difficult to conceive how the failure had come about, and the members made haste to accept whatever money it was possible to get hold of. If any of the stock subscriptions can be collected in case any of the bad bills are paid, the trades council will come in for its share of the proceeds. The $100 coming to the body is not payment in full, nor will it be accepted as such.

The attendance at the meeting last night was good, and there was no lack of interest among the delegates. Delegates from the barbers' union made a report on the strike situation, and a list of union shops was read. A list of those whose owners have not yet signed the scale was given out, and the request made that all unionists and their sympathizers refrain from patronizing these shops until the strike is settled.

A communication was received from the men in charge of the fight against the non-union Los Angeles Times, giving a list of all firms who still persist in patronizing the paper. The secretary was instructed to write to all of the advertisers and protest against the continuance of the patronage.

Several communications were received dealing with the union label question and the agitation in favor of the label on all classes of merchandise. Each of the letters were referred in turn to the label committee, which now consists of U. E. Price, Fred Hostetter and Thomas Woods. These men will take up the different subjects as they were presented, and it is the intention of the council to pay more attention to the union label question in the future.

REMEDYING THE DEFECTS IN RAILROAD ORDINANCE

Councilmanic Committee Still Shaping Up This Very Important Measure.

CALL FOR LIGHTS AT GRADE CROSSINGS

The ordinance committee of council is still at work on the railroad ordinance. The members are not certain as to whether they will be ready to submit a report to council at its next regular meeting or not, but they are of the opinion that unless something unforseen is brought to light they will turn the ordinance over to the body for its second reading. It is understood that the committee has unearthed a number of flaws and will report them with a recommendation that the ordinance be revised.

Among the defects ferreted out by former members of council one relates to the stationing of lights at certain street crossings. The ordinance as prepared by the railroad attorney it is argued by the erstwhile councilman reads substantially as follows: "Lights shall be placed at crossings, as legally required." The statement is made that there is no law at the present time requiring crossings to be lighted. The law, says the former councilman, has been repealed, and if the present council would pass the ordinance as it now reads the railroad company would never be compelled to light the crossings. The ex-councilman says that council should rescind the provision and substitute one saying that lights shall be stationed at certain crossings. This, if accepted by the railroad company, will mean that the lights will be obtained, as the company can be made to live up to any provision agreed to, providing it does not conflict with any provision of the state law.

The foregoing is the position taken by a former councilman. The city solicitor says, however, that the repealed law related only to arc lights, but it is thought the railroad company may use this fact as an excuse to escape lighting.

While there are a number of such defects that have been discovered by the committee they are in reality only trivial objections, and when they are remedied it is thought the ordinance will go through without trouble.

RUTH CLEVELAND IS DEAD OF DIPTHERIA

Eldest Child of Former President Cleveland Passed Away at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., January 7.—(Special.)—This city was cast into deep gloom today over the death of Ruth, the eldest daughter of former President Grover Cleveland and wife.

The child had been ill for several days with the dread disease and though the best physicians of the nation were in attendance, they could not save her life. Mrs. Cleveland is almost prostrated with grief and so far the funeral arrangements have not been made.

SIX BADLY HURT IN WORK TRAIN WRECK

Open Switch on B. & O. Near Athens Causes Another Railroad Horror.

Athens, O., January 7.—(Special.)—Six foreigners were so badly crushed that it is feared that all will die in the wreck of a B. & O. work train near this city this morning. The wreck was caused by an open switch, the train crashing through at a high rate of speed.

The injured men were brought to this city, where their injuries were cared for.

Retires from Business.

Lisbon, January 7.—(Special.)—David S. Gailey, the senior member of the firm of D. S. Gailey & Son, who have conducted a book store here for many years, has decided to retire from the business, which will be continued by his son, Frank R. Gailey, after January 15. Mr. Gailey retires on account of ill health.

CARELESSNESS IN PAYING OUT CASH

Treasurer and Auditor Accuse the Water Works Department of Irregularity.

Absolute carelessness, it is alleged by the city treasurer and city auditor, has been practiced by the water works department of the city in the paying out of money which was not authorized by an appropriation of council. Discovery of the irregularity has been made since the auditor and treasurer started to prepare their annual report. They have reported the matter to the city solicitor, and he will officially notify the water works department to desist from such actions in the future.

It was found by the treasurer and auditor that employes of the water works department have been receiving their pay for several months from the money that has been received through water rents and other revenues of that department. The law specifically demands that no money be paid out by any department. It must go through the hands of the treasurer and auditor and before they can make any such payments the acts must be authorized by council.

FLOOD PROTECTION.

The C. C. Thompson plant will not be so much at the mercy of the high water this winter as it has been in past years. The plant is built on low ground and the water creeps over the banks there about the first place on this side of the river for several miles and soon finds its way into the kiln sheds and other departments of the plant on the first floor. Last year the water stood several feet deep in the kiln sheds and the slip house was also inundated. Substantial foundations of brick and stone are being built on the side of the plant facing the river, where formerly the walls rested almost on the ground. The plant is in excellent condition now, as a number of needed improvements have been made, one of them being the construction of a large straw warehouse east of the main plant. The firm has many orders on hand for both white and yellow ware and the prospects for steady work are bright.

CROOKSVILLE NOTES.

Crooksville, January 7.—The Crooksville China company has started again.

They have drawn two glost kilns at the Acme pottery.

Crooksville is a very nice town with a population of about 2,000. There are five churches here, two schools, nine stoneware potteries and two white ware potteries and prospects of more. Two railroads run through here and they are working on the Wabash railroad as fast as possible. There is to be a street car line through here from Zanesville to Sayre, a distance of about 20 miles. The town is thoroughly wired and ready to be lighted with electric light.

SUFFERED WITH THE COLD.

Pottery operatives are welcoming the moderation of the weather, as they were greatly handicapped while the thermometer was below the zero mark. The kilnmen, kiln drawers, odd men found it difficult to keep warm, and some actually suffered with the cold while at work. Some of the warehouses were cold, too. The trips to and from work, particularly when a ride on the street cars was necessary, was attended by some suffering from the cold. The extreme cold has kept work back to a considerable extent.

SEBRING PLANTS RESUMED.

Operations were resumed at the Sebring plants Monday with something like full forces and in a few days the holiday loaf will be forgotten. Perhaps half a hundred operatives who spent the holiday vacation out of town have returned to resume their employment. All the Sebring plants start the new year with excellent prospects.

NOT YET STARTED.

The Smith & Phillips plant has not yet started after the holiday loaf and some of the operatives state they have not yet been instructed as to the time for starting. Several other plants have not yet resumed.

Mrs. William Dunn, of 192 Sixth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what none of the doctors could do. They told me I had gravel and a little relief was all I could expect. I suffered terribly for two or three years alternately better and worse with severe pains across the small of my back and up my side. The pains were so severe that I was often compelled to stay in bed, not being able to get up. My limbs swelled so I could hardly walk, and periodically I was taken with such severe pains through the groins that I could hardly stand it. The doctors advised hot applications and gave me bottle after bottle of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Having seen them so highly recommended by others, I took them, and am grateful to say they helped me almost at once."

MANAGERS TO BLAME

Conclusion Is Reached from Their Testimony on Theater Horror.

NO FIRE DRILLS WERE HELD

Absolutely No Precautions Had Been Taken to Prevent Loss of Life by Fire in Ill-Fated Playhouse—Exits Locked and Bolted.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—By their own evidence before Monroe Fulkerson, who is conducting the fire department investigation into the Iroquois theater horror, the proprietors of the theater showed that a worse condition of affairs existed than had heretofore been thought possible.

Will J. Davis, Harry J. Powers and Thomas J. Noonan, managers of the theater, pleaded ignorance of any precautions taken to prevent loss of life by fire at their theater. They admitted failure to instruct employes in fighting fire, and failure even to provide suitable appliances for use against flames. Their statements were corroborated by 20 employes of the theater.

Noonan, who is the working manager, admitted that 11 of the theater exits were locked and bolted. Two of these exits, leading to the front of the theater on the ground floor, were locked, three additional exits on the north side of the ground floor were bolted, three exits on the north side of the theater from the first balcony were bolted, and three exits on the north side of the second balcony were bolted.

Closed Exits Causes Loss of Life.

The greatest loss of life from the fire was in the first and second balconies, where hundreds of people were suffocated through their inability to get out or were trampled while trying to do so. Had these three exits in each balcony been available, according to Inspector Fulkerson, the loss of life must have been greatly diminished.

Noonan declared that no person had been named by the theater management to superintend the operation of the ventilators of the theater in case of fire, and that in consequence the flames had been permitted to sweep the place instead of seeking a natural outlet through the stage roof.

From figures obtained by Noonan it became evident that almost one in three of the people who attended the matinee lost their lives, the percentage being a trifle over 31 per cent. The theater seated 1,606 people, and in addition to this 236 had been admitted after all seats were sold, making a total of 1,842 in the theater, of whom 592 were killed.

Will J. Davis testified that he had given no orders to place a fire alarm box in the theater, that he had given no direction to place a pump upon the stage beyond the fact that any apparatus the firemen wanted should be provided as soon as possible. He declared that he could not say as to whether the building had been finally accepted from the Fuller company or not. He had no knowledge as to whether the theater had received a final certificate of inspection from the building department of the city before opening or not. Mr. Powers gave evidence substantially the same as that of Mr. Davis.

Ushers Ran from Theater.

Fifteen other witnesses who had worked on the stage declared that they had never received any orders from the management as to what they should do in case of fire. There never was a fire drill in the theater and none of the stage hands was ever informed as to the location or use of fire appliances or the operation of the ventilators over the auditorium and stage.

That the employes in the front of the house were thrown into a panic by the fire was shown by the testimony of all the stage hands examined. Two ushers, each 16 years old, declared that they ran on the first alarm of fire and did not return to the theater until the next day. The stage hands said they all sought safety on hearing that the place was on fire.

Four bodies of the Iroquois fire victims still remain unidentified at the county morgue.

Twenty Million Catarrh Victims!

CAN YOU REALIZE IT? ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

And every victim caught it from some one else. BRAZILIAN BALM A POSITIVE CURE. Cheapest and best remedy on earth. A $1.00 bottle gives One Month's treatment. A Tonic and Strength Builder FREE with every $1.00 Bottle.

If Twenty Millions of our people had Smallpox, Typhoid Fever or Cholera what a cyclone of excitement and horror would sweep over the land. What a rush to get away from it, and what a mighty effort would be made to stamp it out.

Yet CATARRH is worse than either of them. They do their work quick and it is over; while Catarrh hangs on for ever and leads to sure death in some form unless the germs are destroyed and driven from the system. These germs or microbes entrench themselves in the deep and tortuous passages of the head. Brazilian Balm boldly attacks them in their stronghold and compels a surrender of the last microbe. With the head rotting away, the whole system soon becomes impregnated. It is the parent of nearly every other disease.

Forty Years Ago

There were less than 10,000 Catarrh Victims in the land. To-day there are over twenty million. It has become the NATIONAL DISEASE. Catarrh is everywhere. In every city, town and hamlet. On every mountain, in every valley and plain; in forest and prairie. The rich, the poor, the business man, the mechanic, the laborer, the mistress, the maid; it knows no class, no sex, no station. It is the universal malady, the yellow distemper, the disease that is the parent of nearly all other diseases, the slow but sure yellow death, the curse of the land.

Urgency.

Something must be done to arrest this rapidly spreading scourge and done quickly. Each individual must wake up, each community must wake up, the Nation must wake up and take prompt action to stay the progress of the plague. The one remedy that has been found able to cope with this putrid disease and stay its ravages is Brazilian Balm. For 15 years its march has been a march of triumph. Its cures are permanent and are numbered by the tens of thousands. For every disease the good Father has given a sure antidote if we can find it. The antidote for Catarrh has been found in Brazilian Balm. It destroys the Catarrh microbe. It clears the head of foul mucus; it makes the breath and discharges immune (non-contagious); relieves the headache and gradually heals the ulcers, the running sores in the head, thus stopping the dropping into the throat. At the same time the cough, the asthma and bronchitis and sore throat will disappear, also all stomach trouble, caused by constant swallowing of the putrid Catarrh pus. And as your Catarrh disappears all your weakness will change to strength and vitality and you will be like your old self again.

Economy.

It will not cost over $5.00 or $10.00 a month. A $1.00 bottle of Brazilian Balm contains a whole month's treatment, and from this on for six months we will wrap with each $1.00 bottle a month's treatment of TOXICOLA TABLETS. These tablets are a great tonic; they wake up the liver, aid digestion, strengthen the nerves and give vitality to every organ. No such offer to sufferers from Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption and Stomach troubles was ever made before. Summer is the best time to treat Catarrh, as it is not so violent as in winter. B. Mrs. William Dunn, of 192 Sixth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what none of the doctors could do. They told me I had gravel and a little relief was all I could expect. I suffered terribly for two or three years alternately better and worse with severe pains across the small of my back and up my side. The pains were so severe that I was often compelled to stay in bed, not being able to get up. My limbs swelled so I could hardly walk, and periodically I was taken with such severe pains through the groins that I could hardly stand it. The doctors advised hot applications and gave me bottle after bottle of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Having seen them so highly recommended by others, I took them, and am grateful to say they helped me almost at once."

MANAGERS TO BLAME

Conclusion Is Reached from Their Testimony on Theater Horror.

NO FIRE DRILLS WERE HELD

Absolutely No Precautions Had Been Taken to Prevent Loss of Life by Fire in Ill-Fated Playhouse—Exits Locked and Bolted.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—By their own evidence before Monroe Fulkerson, who is conducting the fire department investigation into the Iroquois theater horror, the proprietors of the theater showed that a worse condition of affairs existed than had heretofore been thought possible.

Will J. Davis, Harry J. Powers and Thomas J. Noonan, managers of the theater, pleaded ignorance of any precautions taken to prevent loss of life by fire at their theater. They admitted failure to instruct employes in fighting fire, and failure even to provide suitable appliances for use against flames. Their statements were corroborated by 20 employes of the theater.

Noonan, who is the working manager, admitted that 11 of the theater exits were locked and bolted. Two of these exits, leading to the front of the theater on the ground floor, were locked, three additional exits on the north side of the ground floor were bolted, three exits on the north side of the theater from the first balcony were bolted, and three exits on the north side of the second balcony were bolted.

Closed Exits Causes Loss of Life.

The greatest loss of life from the fire was in the first and second balconies, where hundreds of people were suffocated through their inability to get out or were trampled while trying to do so. Had these three exits in each balcony been available, according to Inspector Fulkerson, the loss of life must have been greatly diminished.

Noonan declared that no person had been named by the theater management to superintend the operation of the ventilators of the theater in case of fire, and that in consequence the flames had been permitted to sweep the place instead of seeking a natural outlet through the stage roof.

From figures obtained by Noonan it became evident that almost one in three of the people who attended the matinee lost their lives, the percentage being a trifle over 31 per cent. The theater seated 1,606 people, and in addition to this 236 had been admitted after all seats were sold, making a total of 1,842 in the theater, of whom 592 were killed.

Will J. Davis testified that he had given no orders to place a fire alarm box in the theater, that he had given no direction to place a pump upon the stage beyond the fact that any apparatus the firemen wanted should be provided as soon as possible. He declared that he could not say as to whether the building had been finally accepted from the Fuller company or not. He had no knowledge as to whether the theater had received a final certificate of inspection from the building department of the city before opening or not. Mr. Powers gave evidence substantially the same as that of Mr. Davis.

Ushers Ran from Theater.

Fifteen other witnesses who had worked on the stage declared that they had never received any orders from the management as to what they should do in case of fire. There never was a fire drill in the theater and none of the stage hands was ever informed as to the location or use of fire appliances or the operation of the ventilators over the auditorium and stage.

That the employes in the front of the house were thrown into a panic by the fire was shown by the testimony of all the stage hands examined. Two ushers, each 16 years old, declared that they ran on the first alarm of fire and did not return to the theater until the next day. The stage hands said they all sought safety on hearing that the place was on fire.

Four bodies of the Iroquois fire victims still remain unidentified at the county morgue.

Twenty Million Catarrh Victims

CAN YOU REALIZE IT? ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

And every victim caught it from some one else. BRAZILIAN BALM A POSITIVE CURE. Cheapest and best remedy on earth. A $1.00 bottle gives One Month's treatment. A Tonic and Strength Builder FREE with every $1.00 Bottle.

If Twenty Millions of our people had Smallpox, Typhoid Fever or Cholera what a cyclone of excitement and horror would sweep over the land. What a rush to get away from it, and what a mighty effort would be made to stamp it out.

Yet CATARRH is worse than either of them. They do their work quick and it is over; while Catarrh hangs on for ever and leads to sure death in some form unless the germs are destroyed and driven from the system. These germs or microbes entrench themselves in the deep and tortuous passages of the head. Brazilian Balm boldly attacks them in their stronghold and compels a surrender of the last microbe. With the head rotting away, the whole system soon becomes impregnated. It is the parent of nearly every other disease.

Forty Years Ago

There were less than 10,000 Catarrh Victims in the land. To-day there are over twenty million. It has become the NATIONAL DISEASE. Catarrh is everywhere. In every city, town and hamlet. On every mountain, in every valley and plain; in forest and prairie. The rich, the poor, the business man, the mechanic, the laborer, the mistress, the maid; it knows no class, no sex, no station. It is the universal malady, the yellow distemper, the disease that is the parent of nearly all other diseases, the slow but sure yellow death, the curse of the land.

Urgency.

Something must be done to arrest this rapidly spreading scourge and done quickly. Each individual must wake up, each community must wake up, the Nation must wake up and take prompt action to stay the progress of the plague. The one remedy that has been found able to cope with this putrid disease and stay its ravages is Brazilian Balm. For 15 years its march has been a march of triumph. Its cures are permanent and are numbered by the tens of thousands. For every disease the good Father has given a sure antidote if we can find it. The antidote for Catarrh has been found in Brazilian Balm. It destroys the Catarrh microbe. It clears the head of foul mucus; it makes the breath and discharges immune (non-contagious); relieves the headache and gradually heals the ulcers, the running sores in the head, thus stopping the dropping into the throat. At the same time the cough, the asthma and bronchitis and sore throat will disappear, also all stomach trouble, caused by constant swallowing of the putrid Catarrh pus. And as your Catarrh disappears all your weakness will change to strength and vitality and you will be like your old self again.

Economy.

It will not cost over $5.00 or $10.00 a month. A $1.00 bottle of Brazilian Balm contains a whole month's treatment, and from this on for six months we will wrap with each $1.00 bottle a month's treatment of TOXICOLA TABLETS. These tablets are a great tonic; they wake up the liver, aid digestion, strengthen the nerves and give vitality to every organ. No such offer to sufferers from Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption and Stomach troubles was ever made before. Summer is the best time to treat Catarrh, as it is not so violent as in winter. B. RECEPTION FOR BRIDE AND GROOM

ROBERT LARKINS AND WIFE GREETED BY FRIENDS.

Arrived at Home from Ashtabula Just in Time to Be Welcomed By the Numerous Guests.

The home-coming of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Larkins was marked by one of the most enjoyable and largest receptions ever given here, the guests, who numbered almost 100, being among the many friends of the former, and who extended to him and his bride the heartiest of welcomes. Mr. and Mrs. Larkins arrived in the East End from Ashtabula, the home of the bride, on the evening train and were escorted to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Larkins, of First avenue, and had only time to remove travel stains before they were escorted to Larkins hall, where the reception was held.

The couple were showered with congratulations and best wishes from the many guests, after which dancing was indulged in to the tuneful strains of music from an orchestra. Those who did not care to dance found other diversions, and all found the moments enjoyable. At the midnight hour an elegant repast was served, the menu embracing all the good things of the season.

After the tables were removed dancing and social pleasantries were resumed, several of the guests adding to the enjoyment of the others. Among the enjoyable numbers was a vocal solo by Fred Irwin.

The reception was arranged by members of the Young People' Social club, of which Mr. Larkins is a member, and the club is to be congratulated on the success of the function.

Mr. and Mrs. Larkins were married Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Ashtabula, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Stocking, of the M. E. church there. Only a few of the intimate friends of the bride were present. After the ceremony a farewell reception was tendered the bride.

The couple will go to housekeeping soon in a pleasant little home on Maple Tree street, wnere they will be at home to their many friends.

Mr. Kwal is well known locally and has relatives here.

It has been arranged for the Sons of Temperance to take the second floor of Larkins' hall, on First avenue, a much better location for a reading room and library. The rooms will be altered to suit the needs of the organization.

Prayer Week Postponed.

Gregory is Better.

Mrs. Lillie Gregory and daughter, Miss Florence, of the Klondike, returned last evening from Pittsburg, where they were called by the sudden and serious illness of their son and brother, Charles Gregory, a brakeman in the employ of the C. & P. railroad. The operation that was to have been performed on him yesterday in a Pittsburg hospital was postponed, as Mr. Gregory was much improved.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Miss Blanche Ward, of St. George street, is very ill, threatened with fever.

Mrs. Tom Hendershot, of St. George street, who has been quite ill with quinsy, is much better today.

Special gospel meetings are being held nightly at the Second Christian church and good congregations have been present each night.

A week of prayer is being observed at the Second United Presbyterian church, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. W. McQuiston.

John Luke, an old soldier and highly respected resident of the Klondike, was stricken with paralysis Tuesday evening and is now in a very critical condition.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. CAREFUL LEGISLATION

Heavy Republican Majority In the General Assembly Insures It.

SESSION WILL BE AN IMPORTANT ONE.

Canals, the Municipal Code, School Laws and Other Subjects Demand Attention—several Bills Already Passed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—After two days of activity the members of the Seventy-sixth General Assembly have left for their respective homes to deliberate over the work accomplished and make plans for a lively winter.

This session of the legislature witnesses the intoduction of many innovations. Thanks to the action of the Supreme Court in declaring all local laws—that is, laws applicable to a specified locality — unconstitutional, the legislative hopper will not be glutted with bills that authorize the transfer of money from one fund to another for the benefit of some village; give particular officers privileges not enjoyed by others of the same class, or do the score of things that legislators have demanded for their respective localities. It is estimated that not less than 50 per cent. of the work that heretofore devolved upon the General Assembly will be lifted from the shoulders of the present membership.

Another change for the better is the decision to have the sessions called at twelve o'clock noon, instead of in the morning, as heretofore. The really important work of any legislative body is done in committees, and this new plan will give the members all reasonable time to thresh out details in committee and permit more intelligent action on the floor.

Contrary to the usual custom, the legislature passed bills on the first days of the session. Ordinarily nothing is done beyond the organization of the House and Senate during the first week. Preparations for the inauguration of the Governor, which always follows the opening of the Legislature, since the State has been blessed with the biennial sessions, makes it almost impossible to accomplish anything the first week. Furthermore, it is absolutely necessary that the Speaker of the House and the President pro. tem. of the Senate be given time in which to select the members for the numerous committees before much work can be done.

Senator Shallenberger, of Cuyahoga county, introduced a bill which completely rebuilds the foundation upon which is constructed the Governor's staff. This provides for the appointment of a staff of 12 from the active membership of the Ohio National Guard. Hereafter the civilian staff will be wholly cut out, and Governor-elect Herrick may be given due credit for the change. There will be no more staff members togged out in costumes that would drive the ordinary citizen to drink. The high-sounding titles and the lace-bedecked, bespangled and gold-braided uniforms go out of existence at the same time. The Senate passed the bill on Monday afternoon and on Tuesday the House finished making it a law. The bill also carries authority for the creation of the office of assistant quartermaster general, who will be part and parcel of the Adjutant General's force. The new job is to pay $1,500 per annum and it is claimed for it that it will save this sum in other ways. The entire bill met with the approval of Governor-elect Herrick.

While the senate was discussing the military measure above referred to, the house took up a bill introduced by Representative Rawson, of Cuyahoga county, which increases the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor from $800 to $1,500 per annum. An attempt was made to pass the bill under suspension of rules on Monday, but there was strenuous objection to such haste. Accordingly the bill went over until Tuesday, and was passed at that time, and subsequently by the senate. It was endeavored to amend this bill to increase the salary of the speaker of the house from $600 to $1,500, but the amendment lost out. The two bodies threw figurative bouquets at each other. The Senate did not think it would look well for that body to take the initiative in boosting the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor, who presides there, while the House felt the same delicate scruples about raising the Speaker's compensation. However, this plan of increasing the pay of the two officers was agreed upon before the Republican convention. Lieutenant-Governor-elect Harding will benefit by the bill, inasmuch as he does not go into office until after the passage of the law.

An innocent-looking resolution adopted by Democrats of the house in their pre-organization caucus has caused all sorts of discussion, criticism and some cussing. That resolution reads:

"The precedent of years has caused the duty to devolve upon the members of the General Assembly in caucus assembled to select the candidate of the party."

It will be remembered that the last Johnsonized Democratic State convention adopted a resolution calling upon the Democratic members of the General Assembly to nominate and support John A. Clarke, of Cleveland, for United States Senator.

The adoption of the foregoing resolution was an absolute repudiation of the action of the State convention, for no reference was made to the demands of that body and furthermore the caucus particularly called attention to the fact that it was up to the members themselves to select the candidate. They placed in nomination Mr. Clarke, although not at the request of the convention, as the resolution specifically announced.

The few Johnson men in the legislature did not see the point of the resolution, and now they are making some little complaint. On the other hand, the anti-Johnson Democrats are congratulating themselves over the success of the coup.

In discussing the proposition, one leading follower of the Johnson brand of Democracy, attempts to belittle the caucus action by saying:

"This would appear to be a direct repudiation of the action of the state convention, but whatever action was taken by the state convention it would none the less be the duty of the members of the legislature, in caucus, to make the nomination. The action would, of course, be purely perfunctory if the action of the state convention were to be considered mandatory. The intent of the caucus members, however, was to repudiate the action of the state convention.

"But they did not do so because they followed the action of the state convention by indorsing the nominee of the state convention for United States senator. It is not reasonable to presume that, had the state convention not nominated John H. Clarke, and he had not made the race for senator, that his name would have been presented to the Democratic caucus and ratified without a dissenting vote. It was the action of the state convention in selecting Mr. Clarke that brought about his indorsement.

'So while the Democratic members by resolution practically repudiated the action of the state convention in assuming the prerogative in such matters, they ratified the action of the convention by indorsing Mr. Clarke, thus neutralizing the effect of their resolution and bringing them cut the same hole they went in at."

Those who stood by the resolution, and the number included every man at the caucus, cannot see that the Johnson wing of the party is getting much satisfaction out of the defense.

The session of the legislature will be an important one. While the Republicans have an extremely heavy majority, that very fact insures careful legislation. This idea is not advanced on the plea that whatever the Republicans do must be all right, but because a large majority makes reasonably sure the passage of none but meritorious measures. With a close majority the party whip may be successfully wielded, but with a one-sided body the independence of members will be asserted and this independence means clean legislation. This was evidenced the first two days of the session. In the House, Republican members refuse to rush through the Lieutenant-Governor salary bill without first getting a thorough understanding of it, and in the Senate Republican members held up the governor's military staff bill until they were advised of its minutest detail.

So when it comes to the discussion of the important canal matters this winter, the large majority will be effective. A big fight will be waged over the canals. Certain commercial interests want the canals—particularly the Miami and Erie—retained and other commercial interests want it turned over to railroads. The school code will demand much attention and new election laws will require careful consideration. There will be amendments to the municipal code, which was made a law at the recent special session, and the question of placing all county officers on a salary basis will precipitate a fight between politicians and county officers lined up on the one side and those of an economical turn of mind on the other. Just what anti-liquor legislation will be enacted is an enigma now. The anti-saloon people announce that they will ask for a ward local option law, and they will get some strong support.

The senate passed and made a law the house bill which changes the title of the governor's private secretary to that of "secretary to the governor."

COLISEUM ALL RIGHT.

Senator Hanna Inspects Hall in Which Convention Will Be Held.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Although the Coliseum in which the national Republican convention is to be held in June has been closed by order of Building Commissioner Williams, it is stated that the order will be rescinded within 48 hours and that no change in convention plans will be necessary.

The violation charged against the Colisemum is purely technical and it was investigated by Graeme Stewart, national committeeman from Illinois, and Senator Hanna, who was in town. Both expressed the opinion that there was no safer building in the world. Senator Hanna said:

"The convention will be held in Chicago as planned. The Coliseum is one of the finest structures I have ever seen in its provisions for safeguarding life."

It is alleged that the Coliseum violates the ordinance which requires that such buildings shall face on at least one street and two public alleys or open spaces.

NEW JUDICIAL CODE.

Bill Introduced in Congress to Simplify Proceedings.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Representative Warner of Illinois has introduced a voluminous bill providing a judicial code for the United States. This is the second part of the general revision of all federal laws enacted to the present time now being considered by the committee on revision of the laws of which Colonel Warner is chairman.

This bill embraces all laws concerning the jurisdiction and practice of United States courts and all judiciary acts and amendatory acts thereof, providing for the removal, appeal and transfer of causes. Many of the provisions heretofore urged by the American Bar association respecting the organization and jurisdiction of federal courts are included. Legislation is proposed reducing the work of the supreme court, improving the jury system, for better civil and criminal procedure, and procedure on error and appeal.

ENGINEER BLAMED.

Lake Shore Wreck Laid at Door of One of Its Victims.

Ashtabula, O., Jan. 7.—The coroner's jury has placed the blame for the wrecking of the Lake Shore limited last week upon the engineer of the first of the two engines hauling that train.

The towerman testified that he had opened a switch to permit a coal train to sidetrack and when the switch failed to close properly, went down to make it close, after setting the danger signals. The switch was not closed when the towerman heard the limited approaching at a speed of probably 60 miles an hour. The wreck soon followed. The only survivor of the two engine crews, Fireman Higley, of the second engine, said no signal could be seen from his cab because of smoke and steam from the first engine.

EAST END

RECEPTION FOR BRIDE AND GROOM

ROBERT LARKINS AND WIFE GREETED BY FRIENDS.

Arrived at Home from Ashtabula Just in Time to Be Welcomed By the Numerous Guests.

The home-coming of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Larkins was marked by one of the most enjoyable and largest receptions ever given here, the guests, who numbered almost 100, being among the many friends of the former, and who extended to him and his bride the heartiest of welcomes. Mr. and Mrs. Larkins arrived in the East End from Ashtabula, the home of the bride, on the evening train and were escorted to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Larkins, of First avenue, and had only time to remove travel stains before they were escorted to Larkins hall, where the reception was held.

The couple were showered with congratulations and best wishes from the many guests, after which dancing was indulged in to the tuneful strains of music from an orchestra. Those who did not care to dance found other diversions, and all found the moments enjoyable. At the midnight hour an elegant repast was served, the menu embracing all the good things of the season.

After the tables were removed dancing and social pleasantries were resumed, several of the guests adding to the enjoyment of the others. Among the enjoyable numbers was a vocal solo by Fred Irwin.

The reception was arranged by members of the Young People' Social club, of which Mr. Larkins is a member, and the club is to be congratulated on the success of the function.

Mr. and Mrs. Larkins were married Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Ashtabula, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Stocking, of the M. E. church there. Only a few of the intimate friends of the bride were present. After the ceremony a farewell reception was tendered the bride.

The couple will go to housekeeping soon in a pleasant little home on Maple Tree street, wnere they will be at home to their many friends.

NEW ESTABLISHMENT

Charles Kwal, of Pittsburg, Will Open a Clothing Store Soon on Mulberry Street.

East End is soon to have another mercantile establishment, the preliminary arrangements being about completed this morning. It is understood that the intended proprietor, Charles Kwal, of Pittsburg, has leased the business room once occupied by the reading room of the Sons of Temperance and that he will open a clothing store there within the next two weeks. Mr. Kwal is well known locally and has relatives here.

It has been arranged for the Sons of Temperance to take the second floor of Larkins' hall, on First avenue, a much better location for a reading room and library. The rooms will be altered to suit the needs of the organization.

Prayer Week Postponed.

The week of praper is not being observed at the Second Presbyterian church, as stated in the Tribune this morning. Rev. N. M. Crowe, the pastor, is absent from the city and the observance of the event was postponed until some time next week. No night meetings of any kind are being held at the church this week. Rev. Mr. Crowe is at Apollo, Pa., assisting Rev. Mr. Daubenspeck in conducting a series of special meetings.

Gregory is Better.

Mrs. Lillie Gregory and daughter, Miss Florence, of the Klondike, returned last evening from Pittsburg, where they were called by the sudden and serious illness of their son and brother, Charles Gregory, a brakeman in the employ of the C. & P. railroad. The operation that was to have been performed on him yesterday in a Pittsburg hospital was postponed, as Mr. Gregory was much improved.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Miss Blanche Ward, of St. George street, is very ill, threatened with fever.

Mrs. Tom Hendershot, of St. George street, who has been quite ill with quinsy, is much better today.

Clark Andrews, who has been ill for the past month at the home of his father, T. J. Andrews, Sr., is now able to be out.

Special gospel meetings are being held nightly at the Second Christian church and good congregations have been present each night.

A week of prayer is being observed at the Second United Presbyterian church, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. W. McQuiston.

John Luke, an old soldier and highly respected resident of the Klondike, was stricken with paralysis Tuesday evening and is now in a very critical condition.

A Timely Saggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. CAREFUL LEGISLATION

Heavy Republican Majority In the General Assembly Insures It.

SESSION WILL BE AN IMPORTANT ONE.

Canals, the Municipal Code, School Laws and Other Subjects Demand Attention—Several Bills Already Passed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—After two days of activity the members of the Seventy-sixth General Assembly have left for their respective homes to deliberate over the work accomplished and make plans for a lively winter.

This session of the legislature witnesses the intoduction of many innovations. Thanks to the action of the Supreme Court in declaring all local laws—that is, laws applicable to a specified locality — unconstitutional, the legislative hopper will not be glutted with bills that authorize the transfer of money from one fund to another for the benefit of some village; give particular officers privileges not enjoyed by others of the same class, or do the score of things that legislators have demanded for their respective localities. It is estimated that not less than 50 per cent. of the work that heretofore devolved upon the General Assembly will be lifted from the shoulders of the present membership.

Another change for the better is the decision to have the sessions called at twelve o'clock noon, instead of in the morning, as heretofore. The really important work of any legislative body is done in committees, and this new plan will give the members all reasonable time to thresh out details in committee and permit more intelligent action on the floor.

Contrary to the usual custom, the legislature passed bills on the first days of the session. Ordinarily nothing is done beyond the organization of the House and Senate during the first week. Preparations for the inauguration of the Governor, which always follows the opening of the Legislature, since the State has been blessed with the biennial sessions, makes it almost impossible to accomplish anything the first week. Furthermore, it is absolutely necessary that the Speaker of the House and the President pro. tem. of the Senate be given time in which to select the members for the numerous committees before much work can be done.

Senator Shallenberger, of Cuyahoga county, introduced a bill which completely rebuilds the foundation upon which is constructed the Governor's staff. This provides for the appointment of a staff of 12 from the active membership of the Ohio National Guard. Hereafter the civilian staff will be wholly cut out, and Governor-elect Herrick may be given due credit for the change. There will be no more staff members togged out in costumes that would drive the ordinary citizen to drink. The high-sounding titles and the lace-bedecked, bespangled and gold-braided uniforms go out of existence at the same time. The Senate passed the bill on Monday afternoon and on Tuesday the House finished making it a law. The bill also carries authority for the creation of the office of assistant quartermaster general, who will be part and parcel of the Adjutant General's force. The new job is to pay $1,500 per annum and it is claimed for it that it will save this sum in other ways. The entire bill met with the approval of Governor-elect Herrick.

While the senate was discussing the military measure above referred to, the house took up a bill introduced by Representative Rawson, of Cuyahoga county, which increases the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor from $800 to $1,500 per annum. An attempt was made to pass the bill under suspension of rules on Monday, but there was strenuous objection to such haste. Accordingly the bill went over until Tuesday, and was passed at that time, and subsequently by the senate. It was endeavored to amend this bill to increase the salary of the speaker of the house from $600 to $1,500, but the amendment lost out. The two bodies threw figurative bouquets at each other. The Senate did not think it would look well for that body to take the initiative in boosting the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor, who presides there, while the House felt the same delicate scruples about raising the Speaker's compensation. However, this plan of increasing the pay of the two officers was agreed upon before the Republican convention. Lieutenant-Governor-elect Harding will benefit by the bill, inasmuch as he does not go into office until after the passage of the law.

An innocent-looking resolution adopted by Democrats of the house in their pre-organization caucus has caused all sorts of discussion, criticism and some cussing. That resolution reads:

"The precedent of years has caused the duty to devolve upon the members of the General Assembly in caucus assembled to select the candidate of the party."

It will be remembered that the last Johnsonized Democratic State convention adopted a resolution calling upon the Democratic members of the General Assembly to nominate and support John A. Clarke, of Cleveland, for United States Senator.

The adoption of the foregoing resolution was an absolute repudiation of the action of the State convention, for no reference was made to the demands of that body and furthermore the caucus particularly called attention to the fact that it was up to the members themselves to select the candidate. They placed in nomination Mr. Clarke, although not at the request of the convention, as the resolution specifically announced.

The few Johnson men in the legislature did not see the point of the resolution, and now they are making some little complaint. On the other hand, the anti-Johnson Democrats are congratulating themselves over the success of the coup.

In discussing the proposition, one leading follower of the Johnson brand of Democracy, attempts to belittle the caucus action by saying:

"This would appear to be a direct repudiation of the action of the state convention, but whatever action was taken by the state convention it would none the less be the duty of the members of the legislature, in caucus, to make the nomination. The action would, of course, be purely perfunctory if the action of the state convention were to be considered mandatory. The intent of the caucus members, however, was to repudiate the action of the state convention.

"But they did not do so because they followed the action of the state convention by indorsing the nominee of the state convention for United States senator. It is not reasonable to presume that, had the state convention not nominated John H. Clarke, and he had not made the race for senator, that his name would have been presented to the Democratic caucus and ratified without a dissenting vote. It was the action of the state convention in selecting Mr. Clarke that brought about his indorsement.

'So while the Democratic members by resolution practically repudiated the action of the state convention in assuming the prerogative in such matters, they ratified the action of the convention by indorsing Mr. Clarke, thus neutralizing the effect of their resolution and bringing them out the same hole they went in at."

Those who stood by the resolution, and the number included every man at the caucus, cannot see that the Johnson wing of the party is getting much satisfaction out of the defense.

The session of the legislature will be an important one. While the Republicans have an extremely heavy majority, that very fact insures careful legislation. This idea is not advanced on the plea that whatever the Republicans do must be all right, but because a large majority makes reasonably sure the passage of none but meritorious measures. With a close majority the party whip may be successfully wielded, but with a one-sided body the independence of members will be asserted and this independence means clean legislation. This was evidenced the first two days of the session. In the House, Republican members refuse to rush through the Lieutenant-Governor salary bill without first getting a thorough understanding of it, and in the Senate Republican members held up the governor's military staff bill until they were advised of its minutest detail.

So when it comes to the discussion of the important canal matters this winter, the large majority will be effective. A big fight will be waged over the canals. Certain commercial interests want the canals—particularly the Miami and Erie—retained and other commercial interests want it turned over to railroads. The school code will demand much attention and new election laws will require careful consideration. There will be amendments to the municipal code, which was made a law at the recent special session, and the question of placing all county officers on a salary basis will precipitate a fight between politicians and county officers lined up on the one side and those of an economical turn of mind on the other. Just what anti-liquor legislation will be enacted is an enigma now. The anti-saloon people announce that they will ask for a ward local option law, and they will get some strong support.

CORLISEUM ALL RIGHT.

Senator Hanna Inspects Hall in Which Convention Will Be Held.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Although the Coliseum in which the national Republican convention is to be held in June has been closed by order of Building Commissioner Williams, it is stated that the order will be rescinded within 48 hours and that no change in convention plans will be necessary.

The violation charged against the Colisemum is purely technical and it was investigated by Graeme Stewart, national committeeman from Illinois, and Senator Hanna, who was in town. Both expressed the opinion that there was no safer building in the world. Senator Hanna said:

"The convention will be held in Chicago as planned. The Coliseum is one of the finest structures I have ever seen in its provisions for safeguarding life."

It is alleged that the Coliseum violates the ordinance which requires that such buildings shall face on at least one street and two public alleys or open spaces.

NEW JUDICIAL CODE.

Bill Introduced in Congress to Simplify Proceedings.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Representative Warner of Illinois has introduced a voluminous bill providing a judicial code for the United States. This is the second part of the general revision of all federal laws enacted to the present time now being considered by the committee on revision of the laws of which Colonel Warner is chairman.

This bill embraces all laws concerning the jurisdiction and practice of United States courts and all judiciary acts and amendatory acts thereof, providing for the removal, appeal and transfer of causes. Many of the provisions heretofore urged by the American Bar association respecting the organization and jurisdiction of federal courts are included. Legislation is proposed reducing the work of the supreme court, improving the jury system, for better civil and criminal procedure, and procedure on error and appeal.

Lake Shore Wreck Laid at Door of One of Its Victims.

Ashtabula, O., Jan. 7.—The coroner's jury has placed the blame for the wrecking of the Lake Shore limited last week upon the engineer of the first of the two engines hauling that train.

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1904.

New York city had fewer fires than usual last year, and as a result of increased use of fire proof material in building, begins the new year with reduced insurance rates. The lesson is one that should not be lost upon East Liverpool, but it is quite likely to be unless the neglected subject of fire limits is given attention.

The Mississippi legislature, which ought to be fairly representative of Democratic sentiment in the south, by an almost unanimous vote, instructs the senators from that state to vote for the confirmation of the Panama canal treaty. Senator Gorman is fast finding out how deeply he put his foot in it.

While railroads have been increasing their earnings the steel trust has barely been able to make ends meet. The explanation seems to be that although many railroad stocks are wattered, they are not watered so enormously.

Toledo council has passed an anti-fire cracker ordinance. If it is enforced the city will probably not have a very noisy Fourth of July, and will undoubtedly have fewer funerals than usual at that time on the days following.

John Alexander Dowie is looking for an island off the Texas coast where he may found a new Zion. Why not go farther away, where he can find a better assortment of islands from which to make a selection?

Democratic statesmen in congress show a disposition to devote themselves industriously to the manufacture of campaign material. The Republicans always have on hand a good supply, well made.

With all the progress made in railroading in recent years it is strange no effectual method has yet been discovered to prevent running trains toward each other on the same track. Such wrecks as that in Kansas are inexcusable and ought to be impossible with railroaders who know their business.

A temperature of 50 degrees below zero on the Atlantic coast ought to encourage those Boston professors who have been trying to prove that the sun is losing its heat.

The title of the play in which Mrs. Soffel, of Biddle fame, is to star, is "A Daring Woman." To be appropriate it should be "A Foolish Woman."

Those who haven't got enough of the old fashioned winter are remined that the time for genuine cold weather is usually later in the season.

Almost everybody will agree with the legislature that it is worth more than $800 a year to be lieutenant governor of Ohio.

"Dig the Panama canal without delay" is the president's advice. It will make a popular campaign cry for the Republicans.

The Chicago theatre horror will result in greater protection for millions of people who patronize amusement places.

Even if we had a president who did nothing the Democrats would keep right on grumbling.

John D. Rockefeller gave away $10,000,000 last year and did not run behind much at that.

You can't keep friends if you remember all their failings and forget your own.

Water won't run up hill for an indefinite period, even on Wall street.

Olney and Hill have also blundered.

TALE OF AN ICY SEA.

Five Sailors Rescued After a Terrible Experience.

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 7.—The experiences of Captain Seabean of the British schooner Ayr and his crew of four, who were brought here by the fishing schooner Jennie B. Hodgdon, after having been rescued from their wrecked vessel off Cape Cod, were pronounced by fishermen of this port to be among the worst ever heard at Gloucester.

Captain Hodgdon of the fishing schooner, when about 10 miles off Cape Cod, sighted a rolling hull, and what he took to be a signal of distress flapping from the stump of a mast, and in spite of tremendous seas and frightful cold he chopped one of his dories out of the ice and with two of his crew went to the wreck and found the five men on board practically frozen to the deck and almost at the point of death.

With great difficulty the helpless seamen were placed in the dory and taken to the fishing schooner, where they were partly revived. They had been for 30 hours without food or water with the thermometer far below zero and continually washed by tremendous seas. None of the men could be moved from the Hodgdon and medical attention was given them on board

Wright Brothers Say They Have Solved Problem of Aerial Navigation.

MACHINE FLEW SUCCESSFULLY

First Authentic Acount of Recent Tests Furnished for Publication—Entirely New Principle Employed—Flyer Advanced in Brisk Wind

Dayton, O., Jan. 7.—The Wright brothers, inventors of the flying machine which has attracted such widespread attention, have made a statement of the two successful trials made by them.

Dec. 17, between 10:30 and noon, four flights were made, two by Orville Wright and two by Wilbur Wright. The starts were all made from a point on the level and about 200 feet west of our camp, a quarter of a mile north of Killdevil sandhill, in Dare county, N. C. The wind had a velocity of 27 miles an hour at 10 o'clock and 24 miles an hour at noon.

The flight was made directly against the wind. Each time the machine started from the level ground by its own power with no assistance from gravity or other source whatever. After a run of about 40 feet along a mono-rail track, which held the machine eight inches from the ground, it rose from the track and under the direction of the operator climbed upward on an inclined course until eight or ten feet from the ground was reached, after which the course was kept as near horizontal as the wind gusts and the limited skill of the operator would permit. Into the teeth of a December gale the "flyer" made its way forward with a speed of 10 miles an hour over the ground and of 30 to 35 miles an hour through the air.

It had previously been decided that for reasons of personal safety these first trials should be made as close to the ground as possible. The succeeding flights increased in length and at the fourth trial a flight of 59 seconds was made in which the machine flew a little more than half a mile through the air and a distance of more than 852 feet over the ground.

Only those who are acquainted with practical aeronautics can appreciate the difficulties of attempting the first trials of a flying machine in a 25-mile gale. As winter was already set in, we should have postponed our trials to a more favorable season, but for the fact that we were determined before returning home to know whether the machine possessed sufficient power to fly, sufficient strength to withstand the shock of landing and sufficient control to make flight safe in boisterous winds as well as in calm air. When these points had been established the age of the flying machine had come at last.

From the beginning we have employed entirely new principles of control, and as all the experiments have been conducted at our own expense, without assistance from any individual or institution, we do not feel ready at present to give out any pictures or detailed description of the machine.

SON IS CONVICTED.

Charged With Father's Murder—Sister Held as Accomplice.

St. Clairsville, O., Jan. 7.—After an exciting trial Fred Jackson has been found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing his father. The evidence was purely circumstantial. The crime was committed in Barnesville in August. Dwight Jackson, father of the prisoner, was found dead.

A roll of money was missing and a bloody ax, with which his skull was crushed, was lying beside the bed. Jackson had no known enemies outside of his own family. Bertha Jackson, sister of the convicted man, who has been in jail since the crime was committed, refused to testify and will now be indicted as an accomplice.

Students of Ohio Wesleyan University Forbidden to Use It.

Delaware, O., Jan. 7.—When the young men attending the Ohio Wesleyan university returned from their holiday vacation they were required to sign a pledge to abstain from the use of tobacco during the coming term before being permitted to return to the university.

Many of the students accepted the condition, but many are undecided, and some have telegraphed their parents for advice.

EMPLOYER IN BULL PEN.

Sympathy for Striking Miners Gets Him Into Trouble.

Cripple Creek, Col., Jan. 7.—C. H. Reimer, business associate of James F. Burk, president of the Portland Mining company, has been arrested by a military squad and lodged in the bull pen. K. C. Sterling, chief detective of the Mine Owners' association, is quoted as saying that if Burk should interfere in behalf of Reimer, he, too, would be placed in the bull pen. Reimer and Burk, it is said, incurred the enmity of the mine owners' association by giving employement to union miners in the Portland mine and by waging a successful campaign for the election of a union man as county treasurer.

AT THE THEATER

It is interesting to the theater patrons to know that the famous Will H. Myers Big Stock company will begin a three days' engagement commencing next Monday evening with a special matinee Wednesday. The opening performance will be "Through the Breakers," a beautiful sensational melo-drama by Owen Davis. Specialties will be the feature between acts by specialty artists who have been especially engaged to amuse our theatre patrons between acts.

"A Break for Liberty" will be presented here at the Grand for the first time and will be one of the greatest treats which will be offered to the theatergoers of East Liverpool this season. The play is written on the thrilling incidents connected with the daring escape from the Pittsburg jail of the late Biddle brothers. Watch for date.

The much-heralded successful melodrama that stands first among the melodramas of today, entitled "The Two Little Waifs," by Lincoln J. Carter will be seen at the Grand next Thursday, January 14. Juvenile talent enters very prominently in the production and of a very high type and largely contributes to the success of the play.

"The Flaming Arrow," Lincoln J. Carter's play of the far west, will be the attraction at the Grand Saturday, January 16.

Richard Smith, who has been visiting his parents in this city, returned to Gambier college this morning, where he is attending school.

Joseph Webb returned to Wheeling this morning after a visit in this city. Mr. Webb is employed as a packer in one of the potteries at Wheeling.

Michael Reeves, who recently moved to this city from down the river, is very ill at his home on Ridgeway avenue. It was thought last evening that he could not get well, and some member of the family went so far as to speak to an undertaker. The sick man rallied soon afterward, however, and is some better today.

AT THE THEATER

It is interesting to the theater patrons to know that the famous Will H. Myers Big Stock company will begin a three days' engagement commencing next Monday evening with a special matinee Wednesday. The opening performance will be "Through the Breakers," a beautiful sensational melo-drama by Owen Davis. Specialties will be the feature between acts by specialty artists who have been especially engaged to amuse our theatre patrons between acts.

"A Break for Liberty" will be presented here at the Grand for the first time and will be one of the greatest treats which will be offered to the theatergoers of East Liverpool this season. The play is written on the thrilling incidents connected with the daring escape from the Pittsburg jail of the late Biddle brothers. Watch for date.

The much-heralded successful melodrama that stands first among the melodramas of today, entitled "The Two Little Waifs," by Lincoln J. Carter will be seen at the Grand next Thursday, January 14. Juvenile talent enters very prominently in the production and of a very high type and largely contributes to the success of the play.

"The Flaming Arrow," Lincoln J. Carter's play of the far west, will be the attraction at the Grand Saturday, January 16.

TRAVELED OVERLAND FROM KENTUCKY

Southern Couple Who Came North In a Wagon Camp in Wellsville.

Sherman Jones and wife, of Maysville, Ky., arrived in the city last night, having driven overland in a wagon provided with a stove and other utensils for living while on the road. They camped in the vicinity of Moore's livery stable at Eighteenth street, and spent the night there. Mr. Jones says they are on their way to Jamestown, N. Y., and unless he can obtain some kind of employment among the Ohio valley towns will continue his trip on through.

The extreme cold weather has rather disheartened himself and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are people above the ordinary in intelligence, and their predicament at the present time calls forth great sympathy.

EXCITING RUNAWAY

Sleigh Upset and the Horse Ran Wildly For a Long Distance.

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday evening on Main street. A gentleman and lady from the country, who were shopping at Dowling's store, were about to get into their sleigh, and the animal which they were driving became frightened at a locomotive nearby and ran away. The sleigh was overturned a short distance down the thoroughfare and the gentleman who was driving, was dumped out, but not injured. The lady did not succeed in getting into the sleigh and was saved from probable injury. The scared animal continued its mad flight down Main street, careening with the sleigh through Catlett's pavement and porch, but did not damage a single bit of furniture setting on either side of the pavement.

The horse continued its wild flight to Twelfth street and was finally stopped by a passerby. The horse and sleigh were not damaged to any extent.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Mrs. Lewis Black, of Center street, surprised her husband last night on his return from work, in honor of his thirty-sixth birthday. When Mr. Black arrived at his home he found the house filled with many guests awaiting his return, and the event was indeed a surprise to him. However, a most enjoyable social time followed, and during the evening refreshments were served. Mr. Black was the recipient of a number of worthy presents from those in attendance.

VERY QUIET ELECTION IN CHESTER TODAY

The Situation Is Unchanged, But Everybody Is Deeply Interested.

The apparent lack of interest in the municipal election being held in Chester today, which has characterized the campaign from the beginning, is being carried out, and though the vote will be fully up to expectations, the election will go down in history as the quietest ever held in the town.

The candidates and their friends are out in force and have been on the ground all day. The statement is given out that the contests for mayor and recorder will be so close that no one is veuturing a prediction. The sentiment has been so strong in Marshall's favor, however, that his friends are claiming his election by a small majority

In the other contests the result is so much in doubt that from present indications every ballot will be counted before the result is known.

At 2:30 191 votes had been polled and this formed the basis for a prediction that 325 votes would be cast during the day. Should this prove true it will be the largest vote ever polled in the town. The several candidates have taken every step necessary to get out the vote and have been hard at work since early morning.

The polls will close at 5 o'clock and it is thought that in less than one hour thereafter the result will be known.

HOOKSTOWN WEDDING

Dr. Campbell, of Chester, and Miss Calhoun Made Man and Wife.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Calhoun at Hookstown, when their daughter, Miss May Calhoun, was married to Dr. Charles H. Campbell, of Chester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hosick, pastor of the Hookstown Methodist Episcopal church. Only the near relatives of the contracting parties were in attendance, and the affair was an extremely quiet one owing to the serious illness of the bride's mother.

The couple paid a short visit to Chester this afternoon, where Dr. Campbell has been located for several months and where he has built up a nice practice. Mrs. Campbell expects to return to Hookstown this evening, where she will care for her mother until she recovers.

Both of the young people are well and favorably known in and about Hookstown. They will go to housekeeping in Chester within the next few weeks

NO AGREEMENT

Yet Reached Between the American Tin Plate Company And the Sheet Mill Men.

Negotiations have been going on but no agreement has as yet been entered into between the American Tin Plate company and the sheet mill men at the Chester plant. The employes feel that the so-called cut of 27 per cent amounts to more to them than it does to the workers in the other departments of the plant. The other employes are now working under what is called the old system, under which the reduction does not in fact amount nearly to 27 per cent. But if the proposed cut is accepted by the sheet mill men there will be no offsets as in the case of the other workers. They are willing to accept a 20 per cent reduction.

Parents' Institute.

A parents' institute will be held at the Chester U. P. church at 7:30 o'clock. It is earnestly urged that all patrons of the schools attend the meeting which will be an interesting. John Newell, member of the West Irginia house of delegates, will be present and explain his reasons for advocating in the legislature the making of an independent school district in Chester. Prof. R. E. Rayman, of East Liverpool, will also be present and make a speech. A male quartet has been engaged, and the occasion will be enlivened by good music.

Hard to Dig Him Out.

Thomas Oaks lost a valuable ferret the other evening, and states he spent four times as much as the animal was worth in recovering it. The ferret was started into a rabbit hole, and after waiting some time it was decided the animal had killed the rabbit and did not intend to return. Oaks and several other men started to dig the ferret out, but the task was a larger one than they had reckoned upon, and hours were consumed in the operation. It is said a rock was removed as big as a house.

CHESTER NOTES.

Miss Mildred Castner is ill at her home on River avenue, suffering from tonsilitis.

Relatives in Chester yesterday were summoned to the bedside of Mrs. Margaret Allison, who is dangerously ill.

Mrs. Robert Hobbs has returned from Beaver Falls, where she attended the thirtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan there a few evenings ago.

Jack Tinson, employed at the car barns of the Rock Springs railway, is confined to his home by illness. He was attacked suddenly while at work, and was compelled to quit.

Dr. W. S. P. Donehoo arrived home last evening from Pittsburg, where he has been visiting for some time. Dr. Donehoo was ill while in the Smoky City, but has now entirely recovered.

Interest is Growing.

Interest increases in the young men's Bible class of the First M. E. church. The class was organized a short time ago and now has a membership of 80. The class meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the church and the meetings are in charge of Rev. Dr. Pratt. The subject for study next Sunday is "The Fall of Man." Last Sunday the class derived much benefit from the subject, "The Creation of the World."

Crossing the Feet.

Physical culturists say that the practice of sitting with the legs or even the feet crossed is a bad one and has more to do with cold feet than most persons imagine. It has this result principally through impeding the circulation of the blood in the leg that is crossed over the other. The femoral veins are cramped, with the consequence that the blood is dammed back into the feet and above the knee, inducing as well as cold feet a varicose condition in the veins of the calves. Another reason why the habit should be discouraged is the fact that on general physiological principles it is healthier to sit squarely with both feet resting upon the floor, whereas with the legs crossed the weight of the body is thrown almost wholly to one side or the other.

Famous Jockeys.

Madden and Lane Lead English Riders ⁘ Fuller and Other Americans.

Several of the many American jockeys that have been riding in England and other European countries during the last season have returned to this country during the last few weeks. Each reports that in England particularly have our lads fallen below their previous records so far as landing winners is concerned. It is a difficult matter to fix on the cause of this state of affairs.

It did not fall to the lot of an American rider to win first honor in England

this year. Any opportunity that Danny Maher might have had to be at the top was missed after the automobile accident that so nearly resulted in his death.

Otto Madden rode the most winning mounts of any of the boys engaged on the English tracks. He won 154 races, although his percentage of wins in total mounts is less than that of his most powerful rival, Lane, who passed the judge first on 149 occasions. Among Madden's best achievements was his successful fight for the Eclipse stakes.

Second to Madden in actual number of victories, although ahead of him in percentage, was W. Lane. The figures are: Madden, 154; percentage, 19.01; Lane, 149; percentage, 20.01.

Many horsemen are of opinion that Fuller, the jockey who performed well on the eastern tracks, will not repeat his success next year, as he is growing so rapidly that it will be impossible for him to make the weight on some of his mounts. Although this clever rider would be of great service to some of the big stables, so far none of the owners of large strings of horses have taken any pains to sign him for next season.

During the early part of the year Fuller could tip the scales at 104 pounds, but, despite his constant riding, he gradually grew heavier, and toward the latter part of the season his weight was 107 pounds.

In this respect Fuller is not the only one, as with him are Odom, W. Hicks, the colored rider; Troxler, Rice, Bullman and Coburn. All of these jockeys were popular and had a very successful season in the saddle, but their future is in doubt, as they have all shown a tendency to take on weight faster than they can remove it in safety.

Odom is the most popular rider on the eastern tracks, but so far there has been no great demand for his services next year, as many think that he will not be able to ride under 115 pounds. This would give him a chance to accept a mount about once or twice a day, and perhaps not at all.

W. Hicks, the colored rider, who made a name for himself at New Orleans last winter, began his career on a New York track as a lightweight in the neighborhood of 100 pounds. He has increased weight more than any other rider in the east and finished the year weighing close to 115 pounds. Bullman, who has been for several years riding at weights below 110 pounds, is also beginning to get heavy, and it required severe self denial to keep within the limits that would allow him to accept mounts toward the latter part of the season.

The Son of Dictator.

Dolly Dillon, the fast daughter of Sidney Dillon, sire of Lou Dillon, 1:58½, that reduced her record to 2:06¾ to wagon late last fall, has been sent to Locust Grove farm, Newcastle, Pa., to be bred to that grand old sire Director, 2:17. The famous son of Dictator, although now twenty-six years old, is vigorous and strong, and to all appearances he has ten years of usefulness yet before him. The foal by him from Dolly Dillon ought to be worth a small fortune.

SEVENTEEN KILLED.

Mistake of Trainmen Causes Terrible Wreck on the Rock Island.

Topeka, Jan. 7.—Seventeen persons were killed and 37 injured in the Rock Island passenger wreck at Willard. Most of the injured are in hospitals in Topeka. The doctors announce that all will recover with the exception of Mrs. M. A. Hill of Greensburg, Kansas.

Instructed to meet a special freight train at Willard, the engineer and conductor of the ill-fated passenger, noting that a freight train stood on the sidetrack at Willard, rushed through, thinking that the cars they had seen were the ones which they had been instructed to pass.

General Superintendent Gruber of the Rock Island makes this statement: "The engineer of the passenger train had orders to wait at Willard for the special stock train. He passed on, mistaking a freight train on the siding at that station for the stock train. This caused the wreck.

H. G. Parsons, a reporter, who was on the wrecked Rock Island train, tells the following story of the wreck: "Both trains were running 15 to 25 miles an hour and when the engines met they were welded together by the terrific impact. The engineer and fireman of the freight escaped without injury by jumping. The fireman on the passenger train was seriously injured, but the engineer escaped.

"It was in the third car of the passenger train, the first coach having been preceded by a smoker and baggage car, that the greatest loss of life occurred. The smoker, which was occupied by only two or three men, was overturned and pushed through the car behind it, which was crowded with passengers, some standing in the aisle. The first warning given the passengers in this car was when the sudden setting of the air brakes shut off the lights, leaving all in darkness. A moment later a mass of splintered wood and iron was crowded down upon them.

"The three rescued from this portion were a man, a small girl and a middle-aged woman, who were moaning and begging to be taken out. One man, hurt internally, was removed through the rear door within five minutes after the collision, but died almost as soon as the rescuers could lay him down. A woman died two hours later while trying to tell a physician her name. A dozen men had worked on the place where she seemed to be before she was extricated. "Bonnie" Martin, a girl 11 years of age, was pinned down between the two cars, the heavy stove resting on one foot. Her cries attracted the rescuers, and men, many of them bleeding from wounds about the face and arms, worked heroically to get her out. It took two hours of steady work to relieve her. When she was taken out she addressed a doctor who was bending over her as 'papa.' The physician did not have the heart to tell her that she was an orphan, her father and mother having been killed. Mr. Martin was killed instantly and Mrs. Martin died 10 minutes after being taken out of the wreck. The child was suffering with a broken ankle, where the heavy stove fell on her, and severe scalp contusions. She was put to sleep by a hypodermic injection to relieve the pain."

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 7.—The Burlington passenger train broke through a bridge at Rochford, 30 miles from Deadwood, and nine persons were injured, several seriously.

When Mr. Black arrived at his home he found the house filled with many guests awaiting his return, and the event was indeed a surprise to him. However, a most enjoyable social time followed, and during the evening refreshments were served. Mr. Black was the recipient of a number of worthy presents from those in attendance.

VERY QUIET ELECTION IN CHESTER TODAY

The Situation Is Unchanged, But Everybody Is Deeply Interested.

The apparent lack of interest in the municipal election being held in Chester today, which has characterized the campaign from the beginning, is being carried out, and though the vote will be fully up to expectations, the election will go down in history as the quietest ever held in the town.

The candidates and their friends are out in force and have been on the ground all day. The statement is given out that the contests for mayor and recorder will be so close that no one is veuturing a prediction. The sentiment has been so strong in Marshall's favor, however, that his friends are claiming his election by a small majority

In the other contests the result is so much in doubt that from present indications every ballot will be counted before the result is known.

At 2:30 191 votes had been polled and this formed the basis for a prediction that 325 votes would be cast during the day. Should this prove true it will be the largest vote ever polled in the town. The several candidates have taken every step necessary to get out the vote and have been hard at work since early morning.

The polls will close at 5 o'clock and it is thought that in less than one hour thereafter the result will be known.

HOOKSTOWN WEDDING

Dr. Campbell, of Chester, and Miss Calhoun Made Man and Wife.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Calhoun at Hookstown, when their daughter, Miss May Calhoun, was married to Dr. Charles H. Campbell, of Chester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hosick, pastor of the Hookstown Methodist Episcopal church. Only the near relatives of the contracting parties were in attendance, and the affair was an extremely quiet one owing to the serious illness of the bride's mother.

The couple paid a short visit to Chester this afternoon, where Dr. Campbell has been located for several months and where he has built up a nice practice. Mrs. Campbell expects to return to Hookstown this evening, where she will care for her mother until she recovers.

Both of the young people are well and favorably known in and about Hookstown. They will go to housekeeping in Chester within the next few weeks

NO AGREEMENT

Yet Reached Between the American Tin Plate Company And the Sheet Mill Men.

Negotiations have been going on but no agreement has as yet been entered into between the American Tin Plate company and the sheet mill men at the Chester plant. The employes feel that the so-called cut of 27 per cent amounts to more to them than it does to the workers in the other departments of the plant. The other employes are now working under what is called the old system, under which the reduction does not in fact amount nearly to 27 per cent. But if the proposed cut is accepted by the sheet mill men there will be no offsets as in the case of the other workers. They are willing to accept a 20 per cent reduction.

Parents' Institute.

A parents' institute will be held at the Chester U. P. church at 7:30 o'clock. It is earnestly urged that all patrons of the schools attend the meeting which will be an interesting. John Newell, member of the West irginia house of delegates, will be present and explain his reasons for advocating in the legislature the making of an independent school district in Chester. Prof. R. E. Rayman, of East Liverpool, will also be present and make a speech. A male quartet has been engaged, and the occasion will be enlivened by good music.

Hard to Dig Him Out.

Thomas Oaks lost a valuable ferret the other evening, and states he spent four times as much as the animal was worth in recovering it. The ferret was started into a rabbit hole, and after waiting some time it was decided the animal had killed the rabbit and did not intend to return. Oaks and several other men started to dig the ferret out, but the task was a larger one than they had reckoned upon, and hours were consumed in the operation. It is said a rock was removed as big as a house.

CHESTER NOTES.

Interest is Growing.

Interest increases in the young men's Bible class of the First M. E. church. The class was organized a short time ago and now has a membership of 80. The class meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the church and the meetings are in charge of Rev. Dr. Pratt. The subject for study next Sunday is "The Fall of Man." Last Sunday the class derived much benefit from the subject, "The Creation of the World."

Crossing the Feet.

Physical culturists say that the practice of sitting with the legs or even the feet crossed is a bad one and has more to do with cold feet than most persons imagine. It has this result principally through impeding the circulation of the blood in the leg that is crossed over the other. The femoral veins are cramped, with the consequence that the blood is dammed back into the feet and above the knee, inducing as well as cold feet a varicose condition in the veins of the calves. Another reason why the habit should be discouraged is the fact that on general physiological principles it is healthier to sit squarely with both feet resting upon the floor, whereas with the legs crossed the weight of the body is thrown almost wholly to one side or the other.

Famous Jockeys.

Madden and Lane Lead English Riders ⁘ Fuller and Other Americans.

Several of the many American jockeys that have been riding in England and other European countries during the last season have returned to this country during the last few weeks. Each reports that in England particularly have our lads fallen below their previous records so far as landing winners is concerned. It is a difficult matter to fix on the cause of this state of affairs.

It did not fall to the lot of an American rider to win first honor in England

this year. Any opportunity that Danny Maher might have had to be at the top was missed after the automobile accident that so nearly resulted in his death.

Otto Madden rode the most winning mounts of any of the boys engaged on the English tracks. He won 154 races, although his percentage of wins in total mounts is less than that of his most powerful rival, Lane, who passed the judge first on 149 occasions. Among Madden's best achievements was his successful fight for the Eclipse stakes.

Second to Madden in actual number of victories, although ahead of him in percentage, was W. Lane. The figures are: Madden, 154; percentage, 19.01; Lane, 149; percentage, 20.01.

Many horsemen are of opinion that Fuller, the jockey who performed well on the eastern tracks, will not repeat his success next year, as he is growing so rapidly that it will be impossible for him to make the weight on some of his mounts. Although this clever rider would be of great service to some of the big stables, so far none of the owners of large strings of horses have taken any pains to sign him for next season.

During the early part of the year Fuller could tip the scales at 104 pounds, but, despite his constant riding, he gradually grew heavier, and toward the latter part of the season his weight was 107 pounds.

In this respect Fuller is not the only one, as with him are Odom, W. Hicks, the colored rider; Troxler, Rice, Bullman and Coburn. All of these jockeys were popular and had a very successful season in the saddle, but their future is in doubt, as they have all shown a tendency to take on weight faster than they can remove it in safety.

Odom is the most popular rider on the eastern tracks, but so far there has been no great demand for his services next year, as many think that he will not be able to ride under 115 pounds. This would give him a chance to accept a mount about once or twice a day, and perhaps not at all.

W. Hicks, the colored rider, who made a name for himself at New Orleans last winter, began his career on a New York track as a lightweight in the neighborhood of 100 pounds. He has increased weight more than any other rider in the east and finished the year weighing close to 115 pounds. Bullman, who has been for several years riding at weights below 110 pounds, is also beginning to get heavy, and it required severe self denial to keep within the limits that would allow him to accept mounts toward the latter part of the season.

WILLIE LANE, NOTED ENGLISH STAKE WINNER.

The Son of Dictator.

Dolly Dillon, the fast daughter of Sidney Dillon, sire of Lou Dillon, 1:58½, that reduced her record to 2:06¾ to wagon late last fall, has been sent to Locust Grove farm, Newcastle, Pa., to be bred to that grand old sire Director, 2:17. The famous son of Dictator, although now twenty-six years old, is vigorous and strong, and to all appearances he has ten years of usefulness yet before him. The foal by him from Dolly Dillon ought to be worth a small fortune.

SEVENTEEN KILLED.

Mistake of Trainmen Causes Terrible Wreck on the Rock Island.

Topeka, Jan. 7.—Seventeen persons were killed and 37 injured in the Rock Island passenger wreck at Willard. Most of the injured are in hospitals in Topeka. The doctors announce that all will recover with the exception of Mrs. M. A. Hill of Greensburg, Kansas.

Instructed to meet a special freight train at Willard, the engineer and conductor of the ill-fated passenger, noting that a freight train stood on the sidetrack at Willard, rushed through, thinking that the cars they had seen were the ones which they had been instructed to pass.

General Superintendent Gruber of the Rock Island makes this statement: "The engineer of the passenger train had orders to wait at Willard for the special stock train. He passed on, mistaking a freight train on the siding at that station for the stock train. This caused the wreck.

H. G. Parsons, a reporter, who was on the wrecked Rock Island train, tells the following story of the wreck: "Both trains were running 15 to 25 miles an hour and when the engines met they were welded together by the terrific impact. The engineer and fireman of the freight escaped without injury by jumping. The fireman on the passenger train was seriously injured, but the engineer escaped.

"It was in the third car of the passenger train, the first coach having been preceded by a smoker and baggage car, that the greatest loss of life occurred. The smoker, which was occupied by only two or three men, was overturned and pushed through the car behind it, which was crowded with passengers, some standing in the aisle. The first warning given the passengers in this car was when the sudden setting of the air brakes shut off the lights, leaving all in darkness. A moment later a mass of splintered wood and iron was crowded down upon them.

"The three rescued from this portion were a man, a small girl and a middle-aged woman, who were moaning and begging to be taken out. One man, hurt internally, was removed through the rear door within five minutes after the collision, but died almost as soon as the rescuers could lay him down. A woman died two hours later while trying to tell a physician her name. A dozen men had worked on the place where she seemed to be before she was extricated. "Bonnie" Martin, a girl 11 years of age, was pinned down between the two cars, the heavy stove resting on one foot. Her cries attracted the rescuers, and men, many of them bleeding from wounds about the face and arms, worked heroically to get her out. It took two hours of steady work to relieve her. When she was taken out she addressed a doctor who was bending over her as 'papa.' The physician did not have the heart to tell her that she was an orphan, her father and mother having been killed. Mr. Martin was killed instantly and Mrs. Martin died 10 minutes after being taken out of the wreck. The child was suffering with a broken ankle, where the heavy stove fell on her, and severe scalp contusions. She was put to sleep by a hypodermic injection to relieve the pain."

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 7.—The Burlington passenger train broke through a bridge at Rochford, 30 miles from Deadwood, and nine persons were injured, several seriously.

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

REALM OF SPORTS

VICTIMIZED IN THE HARUM STYLE

"Chug" Hall's Bargain In Horseflesh and His Repentance of It.

CLIFF BOUGH HELPED HIM

In Selecting a Second Lou Dillon to Distance the Fifth Streets Racers And Both Were Sadly Deceived By a Pittsburg Jockey.

David Harum could never have bested the deacon in a more complete manner than did a certain "jedge of hoss flesh" in Pittsburg victimize "Chug" Hall and Cliff Bough, prominent young men of this city. Their story is a long one and though sad to them, at least to the former, is considered quite a joke by their multitude of friends.

"Chug" has long been an admirer of speedy horses and when he learned that sportsmen were to be allowed the privilege of Fifth street during the snow season, he at once decided to make himself known as the owner of the fastest horse in East Liverpool. He immediately applied to friends, asking where he might run on to a fast nag, and before the end of the day learned that a gentleman living on the Southside, Pittsburg, was the man he must visit. Communication with the Smoky City individual revealed the fact that the latter had an A No. 1 racer, which he would sell cheap.

Now "Chug" knows a good bit about a horse, but he felt that Cliff Bough knew a little more and invited him to go along and back up his judgment. They arrived in Pittsburg all right and were never treated better in their lives than by the man and his family who had a second Lou Dillon for sale. The animal was as pretty as one would find in a day's travel. Her owner said: "She is kind and gentle and city broke. She is guaranteed to stand without hitchin'. Gentlemen, it would just do your hearts good to see that hoss go." So highly recommended and being the possessor of so much natural beauty, the East Liverpool men thought they were about to get a prize and without exchanging many words started for Fifth street, East Liverpool, to show Andy Rattray and David Brooks a thing or two.

Arriving in the city on the evening before New Year's day they appeared for an exhibition and when the racers were making the snow fly on the street "Chug" appeared on the scene. To his mortification and abject sorrow he soon learned that the desirable features of the horse surely rested in her beauty. She was most certainly kind and city broke; and no horse could stand better unhitched, and poor "Chug's" heart would have been done a lot of good had he just seen her go. She had been on the turf but a few minutes when she began to puff like a steam engine and in less than ten minutes a Shetland pony could have distanced her. "Chug" couldn't say a word. He simply started to walk the nag to his stable and then set out for revenge.

The first thing he did was to telephone to a bank in Pittsburg ordering it to turn down the check he had given the Southside man, and then he went to Bough to tell him he didn't know a darn thing about horse flesh. Mr. Hall is very much wrought up over the deal and will push the salesman if possible.

Ex-Mayor William C. Davidson says that the man who beat Hall tried a similar trick on him a few years ago, but "Billy" was too good a judge to be fooled.

LEAGUE PROMOTERS

Failed to Meet at Rochester Yesterday and Another Date Will Be Set.

Messrs. G. Y. Travis, J. J. Rose, Charles Walsh and Mike Lynch returned last evening from Rochester, where they went to meet baseball men from Homestead, Sharon, Warren, Youngstown, Canton and other towns, for the purpose of organizing a six or eight team league. The meeting did not materialize owing to the delayed traffic on all railroads. It was decided, however, to call another meeting for the near future, when it is thought the league will be formed.

CAME POSTPONED

Locals and Canton Will Not Play Tomorrow Night as Scheduled.

The basket ball game scheduled for tomorrow evening at Rock Springs pavilion between the locals and the Canton Y. M. C. A. team has been called off, and will not be played until the latter part of the season. The locals had the game postponed because they have had no opportunity to practice. The pavilion has been in continuous use for a week and in consequence the locals had no place to get in readiness for the contest.

The next game scheduled will be on next Tuesday evening with Hans Wagner's team of Pittsburg. This will be a great game and much interest is being taken in it.

"He Won't Die"

Of consumption" is a remark often made of a fleshy man. The remark expresses the popular recognition of the fact that the sign of consumption is emaciation, loss of flesh. On the other hand, a gain in flesh is a sure sign that wasting diseases are being cured.

Emaciated people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night-sweats and weakness, have been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The several steps of the cure were recorded in ounces and pounds of increasing weight. When there is gain in flesh the wasting disease is being surely cured.

Mr. Will H. Whitmire, of Arkton, Rockingham Co. Va. writes: "Our son contracted a deep cold about the first of July, 1902, and had a terrible cough. We called a doctor and he pronounced it irritation of the bronchial tubes, with asthmatic trouble, and he informed me that my son was liable to die at any time. He told me that if we could keep the bronchial tubes open, he might cure him, but after treating him several weeks and my son growing worse all the time, I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I had seen several almost miraculous cures brought about by the use of these medicines, and of course I had wonderful faith in them. He used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' at home and one vial of the 'Pellets,' and was then well enough to go to West Virginia, taking a supply with him. I am just in receipt of a letter from him from which I quote: 'I am well and hardy and getting very fleshy.'"

WELLSVILLE DEFEATED AT DUCK BOWLING

Rag Times Won Two Games and Tied for the Other in Contest With Primroses.

The first contest in duck bowling of the season was played last evening on the Imperial alleys by the Primrose team of Wellsville and the Rag Times of this city. The latter team won two of the series of three games and tied for the other. Brunt carried off the honors for high average and high score, with Smith and Crable close seconds. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick headache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

No Life, No Energy, No Ambition

These are common expressions now-a-days and the finger posts that point with unfailing accuracy to the nervous system robbed of its vitality by overwork, worry or excesses of some kind.

That any one should allow this condition to go on to complete mental, physical or sexual ruin, as it surely must if neglected, is a positive crime when a cure is at hand in BAR-BEN, Nerve Food—a medicine designed expressly for this condition, a medicine that cures to stay; cured by increasing the circulation, strengthening the kidneys, and purifying and enriching the blood and thus building up the very essentials of life—Nerve Force.

Use this great remedy and the nervous, irritable, weak and trembling feelings will disappear. Your sleep will be natural, calm and restful. You will wake mornings feeling strong and vigorous instead of tired. All gloomy depression and sense of anxiety will fade from your mind; your nerves will become strong and steady as steel; your ambition will be restored and perfect health and strength will take the place of weakness and debility. The testimony of thousands of men and women whom BAR-BEN has lifted from this helpless condition of long suffering tells the tale of this great remedy more effectually than words can portray.

REALM OF SPORTS

VICTIMIZED IN THE HARUM STYLE

"Chug" Hall's Bargain In Horseflesh and His Repentance of It.

CLIFF BOUGH HELPED HIM

In Selecting a Second Lou Dillon to Distance the Fifth Streets Racers And Both Were Sadly Deceived By a Pittsburg Jockey.

David Harum could never have bested the deacon in a more complete manner than did a certain "jedge of hoss flesh" in Pittsburg victimize "Chug" Hall and Cliff Bough, prominent young men of this city. Their story is a long one and though sad to them, at least to the former, is considered quite a joke by their multitude of friends.

"Chug" has long been an admirer of speedy horses and when he learned that sportsmen were to be allowed the privilege of Fifth street during the snow season, he at once decided to make himself known as the owner of the fastest horse in East Liverpool. He immediately applied to friends, asking where he might run on to a fast nag, and before the end of the day learned that a gentleman living on the Southside, Pittsburg, was the man he must visit. Communication with the Smoky City individual revealed the fact that the latter had an A No. 1 racer, which he would sell cheap.

Now "Chug" knows a good bit about a horse, but he felt that Cliff Bough knew a little more and invited him to go along and back up his judgment. They arrived in Pittsburg all right and were never treated better in their lives than by the man and his family who had a second Lou Dillon for sale. The animal was as pretty as one would find in a day's travel. Her owner said: "She is kind and gentle and city broke. She is guaranteed to stand without hitchin'. Gentlemen, it would just do your hearts good to see that hoss go." So highly recommended and being the possessor of so much natural beauty, the East Liverpool men thought they were about to get a prize and without exchanging many words started for Fifth street, East Liverpool, to show Andy Rattray and David Brooks a thing or two.

Arriving in the city on the evening before New Year's day they appeared for an exhibition and when the racers were making the snow fly on the street "Chug" appeared on the scene. To his mortification and abject sorrow he soon learned that the desirable features of the horse surely rested in her beauty. She was most certainly kind and city broke; and no horse could stand better unhitched, and poor "Chug's" heart would have been done a lot of good had he just seen her go. She had been on the turf but a few minutes when she began to puff like a steam engine and in less than ten minutes a Shetland pony could have distanced her. "Chug" couldn't say a word. He simply started to walk the nag to his stable and then set out for revenge.

The first thing he did was to telephone to a bank in Pittsburg ordering it to turn down the check he had given the Southside man, and then he went to Bough to tell him he didn't know a darn thing about horse flesh. Mr. Hall is very much wrought up over the deal and will push the salesman if possible.

Ex-Mayor William C. Davidson says that the man who beat Hall tried a similar trick on him a few years ago, but "Billy" was too good a judge to be fooled.

LEAGUE PROMOTERS

Failed to Meet at Rochester Yesterday and Another Date Will Be Set.

Messrs. G. Y. Travis, J. J. Rose, Charles Walsh and Mike Lynch returned last evening from Rochester, where they went to meet baseball men from Homestead, Sharon, Warren, Youngstown, Canton and other towns, for the purpose of organizing a six or eight team league. The meeting did not materialize owing to the delayed traffic on all railroads. It was decided, however, to call another meeting for the near future, when it is thought the league will be formed.

CAME POSTPONED

Locals and Canton Will Not Play Tomorrow Night as Scheduled.

The basket ball game scheduled for tomorrow evening at Rock Springs pavilion between the locals and the Canton Y. M. C. A. team has been called off, and will not be played until the latter part of the season. The locals had the game postponed because they have had no opportunity to practice. The pavilion has been in continuous use for a week and in consequence the locals had no place to get in readiness for the contest.

The next game scheduled will be on next Tuesday evening with Hans Wagner's team of Pittsburg. This will be a great game and much interest is being taken in it.

"He Won't Die

Of consumption" is a remark often made of a fleshy man. The remark expresses the popular recognition of the fact that the sign of consumption is emaciation, loss of flesh. On the other hand, a gain in flesh is a sure sign that wasting diseases are being cured.

Emaciated people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night-sweats and weakness, have been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The several steps of the cure were recorded in ounces and pounds of increasing weight. When there is gain in flesh the wasting disease is being surely cured.

Mr. Will H. Whitmire, of Arnton, Rockingham Co., Va., writes: "Our son contracted a deep cold about the first of July, 1899, and had a terrible cough. We called a doctor and he pronounced it irritation of the bronchial tubes with asthmatic trouble, and he informed me that my son was liable to die at any time. He told me that if we could keep the bronchial tubes open he might cure him, but after treating him several weeks and my son growing worse all the time, I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I had seen several almost miraculous cures brought about by the use of these medicines, and of course I had wonderful faith in them. He used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' at home and one vial of the 'Pellets,' and was then well enough to go to West Virginia, taking a supply with him. I am just in receipt of a letter from him from which I quote: 'I am well and hardy and getting very fleshy.'"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

ROMOC

of the ambulance bell that is so frequently heard could be frequently obviated, remarked the Romoc man.

You see it is just this way, nine out of ten people who are overcome by fainting spells, vertigo, weakness, palpitation of the heart and many other ills that cause unconsciousness are the victims of Indigestion.

Indigestion is not always indicated by severe pains in the stomach. It is such symptoms as I have described above that indicates its presence and are often the first warning that the stomach does not work right.

If more people would only take that greatest of Nature's remedies, Romoc, there would be less stomach disorders. Like all of Nature's remedies, Romoc acts directly on the seat of the trouble. No harm ever follows its use as is the case when remedies containing injurious drugs and alcohol are resorted to.

Romoc tones up this great life centre of the body, and, what is more, it purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves and creates a healthy, normal appetite.

Won't you please buy a bottle of Romoc, on my assurance that it will do you good and you will become one of the many in this city who advocate the use of this harmless yet potent medicine.

WANT HEATH'S SCALP

Democratic Senators Demand Investigation of Scandals by Congress.

DEBATE IS LONG AND BITTER

Carmack, Clay and Gorman Pitted Against Lodge and Spooner—Latter Maintain That Present Inquiry Has Been Thorough and Sufficient.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Alleged irregularities in the postoffice department constituted the only theme in the senate. The question came up on a motion first made by Mr. Lodge and afterwards by Mr. Penrose to refer the Carmack resolution looking to a senatorial investigation of the postoffice department to the committee on postoffices and postroads. The Democratic senators resisted the motion and contended that the country would not be satisfied with an investigation of a department made by the department itself.

The debate continued for almost two and a half hours and was extremely spirited from start to finish. Mr. Carmack charged that Postmaster General Payne had been lukewarm at the beginning of the department inquisition and Mr. Spooner replied in defense of that official, saying that he had asked for money for an investigation before the department began its work and when it was undertaken had given it every assistance. Mr. Clay said that the tenor of the Bristow report had convinced him that Mr. Bristow considered former First Assistant Postmaster General Heath more guilty than any one else in connection with the postoffice irregularities. Before the debate closed Mr. Gorman stated that he had a conference with Mr. Penrose, chairman of the postoffice committee, and was willing to have the resolution referred. Further consideration of the subject was deferred.

When the senate met Mr. Morgan's resolution declaring that the president has no power to declare war was read, but at the request of Mr. Morgan it went over for the day.

The resolution of Mr. Carmack directing the postmaster general to send to the senate the papers connected with the postoffice department irregularities and providing for a senatorial investigation was taken up and Mr. Lodge moved its reference to the committee on postoffices.

Mr. Carmack resisted this motion, declaring that if departmental irregularities were to be investigated only by the departments themselves it would not be long until they would be "a stench in the nostrils of the people." The only safeguard was in congressional investigation, he said.

Mr. Clay expressed surprise that there should be opposition to the resolution, and he called attention to the declarations by Fourth Asistant Postmaster General Bristow and Counsellors Bonaparte and Conrad that the investigation should be carried further. He declared that the Bristow report "demonstrates the absolute guilt of the late first assistant postmaster general, Mr. Heath. He (Bristow) says himself that this leading high official was guilty and the proof is overwhelming. If this is true, Mr. Heath should have been indicted. I will do Mr. Bristow the credit to say that his report shows that the frauds of the postoffice department originated in Heath's office. If so he must have had cognizance of them. Then why should the subordinates in that office be indicted and the principal be allowed to escape?"

Mr. Clay quoted extracts from the Bristow report to substantiate his argument, referring especially to the purchase of cash registers, in which connection Mr. Bristow said that the element of fraud could not be eliminated. "If," he said, "this report speaks the truth Perry Heath originated all the frauds in his office."

"If," he continued, "the report is not correct the fact should be known and Mr. Heath vindicated. If the charges are well founded, Mr. Heath should be indicted and punished." As for himself, he did not want to do any injustice to Mr. Heath or others, and for this reason he desired the investigation.

Reference also was made to the negotiations with D. S. Richardson concerning the Montague indicator in which Mr. Clay said there were many suspicious features pointing to Mr. Heath. Mr. Clay declared his conviction from a thorough reading of the Bristow report that Mr. Bristow had been satisfied beyond a doubt that the guiltiest party of all was the retired first assistant postmaster general, yet he has never been indicted or arrested.

ENGLAND INVOLVED.

Her Interests Make It Necessary to Prevent Defeat of Japan.

London, Jan. 7.—Editorials in this morning's papers are almost unanimous in admitting that even if the war should be confined to Russia and Japan, Great Britain cannot possibly see Japan crushed and that although not called upon to interfere by the terms of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, and that while hostilities may be confined to the two nations, yet in the event of Japan suffering a great naval defeat Great Britain would be almost compelled to go to her assistance.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, makes an interesting reference to the report from St. Petersburg that peace is likely to be settled by the Russian Christmas. He said:

"That implies the belief, according to Russian expectation, that Japan will give her reply much quicker than the czar's government has been able to do. I notice that when it is Russia's turn to reply the Russian and some European papers are very pacific, but directly it devolves upon Japan to answer, their tone suddenly becomes pessimistic. This is very significant."

The Tokio correspondent to the Daily Telegraph still expresses the belief that the Russian reply will not be satisfactory. The correspondent says: "It is regarded as most significant that both the American and Japanese treaties with China will be ratified, completed and exchanged within a week."

The Shimoneseki, Japan, correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the Germans at Kiao-Chau are supplying the Russians with coal and gunners, and that Admiral Alexieff's agents are offering large sums to induce American and British gunners to desert and go to Port Arthur.

Paris, Jan. 7.—A dispatch from Seoul gives the circumstances leading to the landing of American marines in Korea. It says: "The Korean army is seriously disaffected, chiefly because of pay arrears, and is threatening to engage in an outbreak at any moment. As a precaution the American minister asked for a marine guard, which was landed."

Seoul, Jan. 7.—A Russian legation guard of 30 has been landed at Chemulpo, but the Japanese railway has refused to transport it to Seoul.

Will Investigate Swayne.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The house committee on the judiciary has appointed Representatives Palmer of Pennsylvania, Pearre of Maryland and Clayton of Alabama to investigate the impeachment against United States District Judge Swayne of the northern district of Florida.

Ohioans Appointed to Office.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The president sent to the senate the following nominations: Attorney—John J. Sullivan, northern district of Ohio; Assistant Civil Engineers—Frederick Hismer Cooke, Ohio; Clinton Draper Thurber, Pennsylvania; Assistant Surgeon—Robert Earl Stoopes, Ohio.

Cannot Sell Standing Room.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—Mayor Weaver has notified theatrical managers that hereafter they will be permitted to sell only as many tickets as there are seats in the theater. No standing room admission is to be allowed.

Walt Whitman as a Journalist.

Walt Whitman was not much of a journalist. He had too much repose. His employers called it laziness. He was concerned with permanences. The nearer to nature, the more repose. Trees and hills do not dance except for urging. Whitman, elemental, strong, placid, bovine, did not urge them.

In the Brooklyn Eagle office Whitman is a clearer memory than in the office of its contemporary. Yet it is oddly hard to secure facts. There is a general and joking reference to his serenity as idleness. He was not a typical newspaper man, for he was not to be pressed or hurried, and in our day of precision and speed he would have been impossible. He never felt that stress from which the veriest bohemian suffers. He did not want money enough to work hard for it. One of the coterie of writers and actors which used to squander its much wit and little wealth at Pfaff's tells me that of the whole party Whitman was the only one who was never tipsy and never "broke." He always had a market somewhere for fugitive writings. Editors were friendly to him. He drank his beer with the rest, but its effect was to make him thoughtful, even sad, while the others were merry. According to that narrator, he was an easy borrower, though it does not appear that he asked for large amounts or made needless delays in his repayments.—Charles M. Skinner in Atlantic.

How He Won Her.

"Then you will be a sister to me?"

"That is all I can be."

He paused and looked at her thoughtfully.

"I already have seven sisters," he said, "and I am not quite sure I can make room for you. They are very kind to me, and on several occasions my socks have been darned a half dozen times in the same spot. They are so thoughtful too. Each of them has picked out a wife for me; but, strange to say, not one of them mentioned you. Of course you won't feel hurt if I add that there is a general and deep rooted impression among them that you are not half good enough for me. Sisters are like that sometimes, you know."

The girl flushed hotly.

"Not good enough!" she cried. "I'll show them. Consider my refusal withdrawn."

And so she married the foxy fellow out of spite and made him very happy. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Bride and Groom Home.

Prof. W. R. Phillips and his bride have arrived in the city from Athens, O., where they were married a week ago. Mrs. Phillips is one of the best known and most highly respected young women of her native town, having always been prominent in church and social affairs. Prof. Phillips is one of the able instructors at the Ohio Valley Business college and is an exemplary young man. They will live at the Fowler residence, Fifth and Jackson streets, where they are now at home to friends.

Callahan-Bastian.

Rev. Father Mahon pronounced the words which united in marriage Miss Margaret Callahan and Joseph Bastian at 6 o'clock this morning. Following the ceremony the relatives and friends with the bridal party enjoyed an elaborate wedding breakfast at the home of the bride on Third street. Mr. and Mrs. Bastian left today for Trenton, N. J., where they will reside permanently. Mr. Bastian is an enterprising potter of that city.

Will Entertain the Society.

Misses Mame and Lucie Bucher will entertain the members of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First M. E. church this evening at their home in the Whittenberger block. The time will be spent by the young ladies in an old fashioned sewing bee, and a very pretty quilt will be finished this evening.

Mission League Meeting.

A business meeting was held last evening by the Mission League of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church. The important business of the organization was taken up and following this meeting the Sunday school teachers of the church met and reorganized their classes, and work for the opening of the new year was considered.

Sleighing Party.

A pleasant sleighing party, composed of the students of the Ohio Valley Business college, this afternoon will enjoy a sleigh ride out several miles on the Calcutta road. When they have reached their destination plans have been made for the serving of a fine oyster supper.

Ferguson-Quinn.

Rev. Father Mahon performed the marriage ceremony for Miss Emily Ferguson and William Quinn last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony took place at St. Aloysius' rectory in the presence of the relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Quinn will reside in this city.

Vogle-Black.

Miss Catherine Vogle and James Black were married at 6 o'clock this morning by Rev. Father Mahon, of St. Aloysius' church. Both Mr. and Mrs. Black are well known in this city, where they will make their home. Mr. Black is an employe of the K., T. & K. pottery.

BRAVE GIRL SAVED THE FORT

Elizabeth Zane Was One of West Virginia's Heroines in Indian Wars.

DARED ARROWS AND BULLETS

Ran Through Danger Zone to Cabin and Obtained Needed Ammunition.

TRIED IN VAIN TO SHOOT HER.

[Copyright 1904 by American Press Association]

Among the heroes of Colonial frontier life there were many heroines also whose noble and self-sacrificing deeds have won for them an undying fame among those to whom their exploits are known, though it is to be greatly regretted that so many of these heroic actions are known to so few people in this generation. One of the best known and most interesting stories of the early life of West Virginia is that which relates the heroism of Elizabeth Zane.

The incidents occured at Wheeling, when the stronghold at that place was undergoing the famous Indian siege of 1782. There was in the community a fort to which the settlers were accustomed to resort for shelter when any danger threatened them. During the intervals when all was quiet this fort was nearly always, if not all the time, unoccupied, the people living in their scattered cabins till the next general alarm called them together again for mutual defense.

In the year mentioned a noted forest ranger named Lynn came in and gave the people in the Wheeling settlement timely warning of the approach of a body of hostile Indians. Resort was at once made to the fort by most of the people of the neighborhood except a few who had unusually strong cabins.

Nearby the fort was the home of Colonel Zane, in which was stored an ample supply of powder, it being the magazine in times of peace. Not anticipating a long siege a limited supply of powder was taken into the fort, but the fight was drawn out for a long time, and the firing was very hot, so that almost before they were aware of it the garrison was almost out of ammunition. Then a problem presented itself. In Colonel Zane's house, not far away, was plenty of powder, but how was it to be obtained? To venture outside the gates meant almost certain death, with no resulting good to the garrison. Volunteers for this hazardous adventure were called for and a number said they were willing to take the risk for the general good.

Among those who offered to go was Elizabeth Zane, a young woman, sister of Colonel Ebenezer Zane. She was an active, brave girl, not a frontier girl in the full sense of the term, having but just returned from Philadelphia, where she had been at school for some years. But she was made of the proper kind of stuff of which heroes and heroines are made, whether on the wild border or in the heart of civilization, and she insisted on being allowed to go after the powder. To her plea it was objected that the errand was one for a man and a soldier, not for a young girl, but to this she replied that if she fell she would not be missed so much as would a man, when every effective fighter counted so much. So insistent was the fair girl that it was at last agreed upon that she sould make the venture. Coolly and bravely she prepared for the perilous run. She removed some of her garments which she thought would impede her progress. When she was fully ready the gate was suddenly opened and the brave girl shot out as if propelled by some force.

The outlying Indians were amazed at the girl's act, so much so that they stood still and looked at her, calling out to one another: "A squaw! A squaw!" But no effort was made to harm her. On her arrival at the cabin she was admitted and stated her errand.

Colonel Silas Zane was present, defending the place, and he fastened a tablecloth about Elizabeth's waist and filled into it the contents of a keg of powder. Then gathering up the ends of the cloth the fair messenger made all speed to get back to the fort.

By this time the redskins had discovered the purpose of the sally and began to try their best to shoot her down before she could get the powder back to their foes. The bullets whizzed all about her, but she was spared the pain of receiving any of them in the flesh. She sped on with her precious burden and ran exultant, and perhaps somewhat exhausted, into the opened gate of the fort.

No record has ever been discovered by the writer of the scene which then ensued. But one can feebly imagine its nature. Elizabeth Zane had won glory for herself such as was destined to outlive her earthly career. Her run was not a long one, only about a hundred and twenty-five feet or so, but it was long enough to enable the fair young girl to race and win fame.

She afterwards married a Mr. McLaughlin, who dying, she married as her second husband a gentleman by the name of Clark. Her home in her later years was for a long period on the Ohio side of the river, about two miles above Bridgeport, near Martinsville.

Walt Whitman as a Journalist.

Walt Whitman was not much of a journalist. He had too much repose. His employers called it laziness. He was concerned with permanences. The nearer to nature, the more repose. Trees and hills do not dance except for urging. Whitman, elemental, strong, placid, bovine, did not urge them.

In the Brooklyn Eagle office Whitman is a clearer memory than in the office of its contemporary. Yet it is oddly hard to secure facts. There is a general and joking reference to his serenity as idleness. He was not a typical newspapef man, for he was not to be pressed or hurried, and in our day of precision and speed he would have been impossible. He never felt that stress from which the veriest bohemian suffers. He did not want money enough to work hard for it. One of the coterie of writers and actors which used to squander its much wit and little wealth at Pfaff's tells me that of the whole party Whitman was the only one who was never tipsy and never "broke." He always had a market somewhere for fugitive writings. Editors were friendly to him. He drank his beer with the rest, but its effect was to make him thoughtful, even sad, while the others were merry. According to that narrator, he was an easy borrower, though it does not appear that he asked for large amounts or made needless delays in his repayments.—Charles M. Skinner in Atlantic.

How He Won Her.

"Then you will be a sister to me?"

"That is all I can be."

He paused and looked at her thoughtfully.

"I already have seven sisters," he said, "and I am not quite sure I can make room for you. They are very kind to me, and on several occasions my socks have been darned a half dozen times in the same spot. They are so thoughtful too. Each of them has picked out a wife for me; but, strange to say, not one of them mentioned you. Of course you won't feel hurt if I add that there is a general and deep rooted impression among them that you are not half good enough for me. Sisters are like that sometimes, you know."

The girl flushed hotly.

"Not good enough!" she cried. "I'll show them. Consider my refusal withdrawn."

And so she married the foxy fellow out of spite and made him very happy. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

BRAVE GIRL SAVED THE FORT

Elizabeth Zane Was One of West Virginia's Heroines in Indian Wars.

DARED ARROWS AND BULLETS

Ran Through Danger Zone to Cabin and Obtained Needed Ammunition.

TRIED IN VAIN TO SHOOT HER.

[Copyright 1904 by American Press Association]

Among the heroes of Colonial frontier life there were many heroines also whose noble and self-sacrificing deeds have won for them an undying fame among those to whom their exploits are known, though it is to be greatly regretted that so many of these heroic actions are known to so few people in this generation. One of the best known and most interesting stories of the early life of West Virginia is that which relates the heroism of Elizabeth Zane.

The incidents occured at Wheeling, when the stronghold at that place was undergoing the famous Indian siege of 1782. There was in the community a fort to which the settlers were accustomed to resort for shelter when any danger threatened them. During the intervals when all was quiet this fort was nearly always, if not all the time, unoccupied, the people living in their scattered cabins till the next general alarm called them together again for mutual defense.

In the year mentioned a noted forest ranger named Lynn came in and gave the people in the Wheeling settlement timely warning of the approach of a body of hostile Indians. Resort was at once made to the fort by most of the people of the neighborhood except a few who had unusually strong cabins.

Nearby the fort was the home of Colonel Zane, in which was stored an ample supply of powder, it being the magazine in times of peace. Not anticipating a long siege a limited supply of powder was taken into the fort, but the fight was drawn out for a long time, and the firing was very hot, so that almost before they were aware of it the garrison was almost out of ammunition. Then a problem presented itself. In Colonel Zane's house, not far away, was plenty of powder, but how was it to be obtained? To venture outside the gates meant almost certain death, with no resulting good to the garrison. Volunteers for this hazardous adventure were called for and a number said they were willing to take the risk for the general good.

Among those who offered to go was Elizabeth Zane, a young woman, sister of Colonel Ebenezer Zane. She was an active, brave girl, not a frontier girl in the full sense of the term, having but just returned from Philadelphia, where she had been at school for some years. But she was made of the proper kind of stuff of which heroes and heroines are made, whether on the wild border or in the heart of civilization, and she insisted on being allowed to go after the powder. To her plea it was objected that the errand was one for a man and a soldier, not for a young girl, but to this she replied that if she fell she would not be missed so much as would a man, when every effective fighter counted so much. So insistent was the fair girl that it was at last agreed upon that she sould make the venture. Coolly and bravely she prepared for the perilous run. She removed some of her garments which she thought would impede her progress. When she was fully ready the gate was suddenly opened and the brave girl shot out as if propelled by some force.

The outlying Indians were amazed at the girl's act, so much so that they stood still and looked at her, calling out to one another: "A squaw! A squaw!" But no effort was made to harm her. On her arrival at the cabin she was admitted and stated her errand.

Colonel Silas Zane was present, defending the place, and he fastened a tablecloth about Elizabeth's waist and filled into it the contents of a keg of powder. Then gathering up the ends of the cloth the fair messenger made all speed to get back to the fort.

By this time the redskins had discovered the purpose of the sally and began to try their best to shoot her down before she could get the powder back to their foes. The bullets whizzed all about her, but she was spared the pain of receiving any of them in the flesh. She sped on with her precious burden and ran exultant, and perhaps somewhat exhausted, into the opened gate of the fort.

No record has ever been discovered by the writer of the scene which then ensued. But one can feebly imagine its nature. Elizabeth Zane had won glory for herself such as was destined to outlive her earthly career. Her run was not a long one, only about a hundred and twenty-five feet or so, but it was long enough to enable the fair young girl to race and win fame.

She afterwards married a Mr. McLaughlin, who dying, she married as her second husband a gentleman by the name of Clark. Her home in her later years was for a long period on the Ohio side of the river, about two miles above Bridgeport, near Martinsville.
